"THE PATIENT is holding his own."

That's the way nurses tell the family the patient is in danger, but there's still hope for recovery.

That also can be applied to Lee County on the basis of a population study prepared for the Illinois Department of Public Health and reported by the Population Research and Training Center of the University of Chicago.

The report says Lee County is considered "stable" on the basis of less than 3 per cent change in population from 1950 to 1956.

During the same period the population of the state increased an estimated 9 per cent, from 8,712,000 in 1950 to 9,487,000 in 1956. Of the 102 Illinois counties, 29 were "rapidly growing" with an increase of 9 per cent or more; 19 were "growing" with an increase of 3 to 9 per cent; 40 were reported "stable," and 14 were "decreasing" with losses of 3 per cent or more.

None of our northern Illinois neighbors showed declining populations, but Carroll, JoDaviess and LaSalle were with us in the "stable" group. Ogle, Whiteside, Rock Island and Henry are growing, and Winnebago, Stephenson, Bureau, DeKalb, Grundy and McHenry are growing rapidly.

Actually, there's nothing wrong with being stable. It usually is a rather comfortable state, with few problems and no growing pains. The only trouble is, according to the common belief in our land, when you're standing still, you're going backward. Phrased another way, when you are standing, the parade is passing you by.

We hate to think of Lee County in such a position. We don't think Lee Countians would relish the idea of living in such a "stable" community.

Some other interesting details in the state-wide reports show that 93 per cent of the increase was by "natural increase," the excess of births over deaths, while the other 7 per cent was by an excess of persons moving into the state over those moving away.

The report also shows our state population is becoming both younger and older. The proportion of persons in the age group "less than 15" years and "65 and over" increased between 1950 and 1956, while the proportion in the age group 15 to 64 decreased. Which could help explain why here in Lee County, Dixon, Franklin Grove, Ashton, Paw Paw and Amboy have built or are building new schools, while the population is stable. We should also remember that many of the children who will use the new schools were born before 1950.

So, we are a stable county. But will we remain in that category? We wonder if our readers have any comments on the question.

Wanted: A cure for too much stability.

Step Up Program For Replacing Auto Licenses

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — State police and the secretary of state's investigators are being used to step up the campaign for replacing peeled auto licenses.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier said Monday 3,371 motorists asked for the free replacements last week, bringing the total to 21,400 so far.

Cars whose front plates have lost their paint are being stopped and the owners fill out cards requesting replacement, Carpentier said.

Calls for Bids On Test Road

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Highway Division today called for bids Aug. 2 on projects estimated at 10 million dollars. In addition, the division will receive bids on two sections of paving on the Ottawa test road.

Dulles Pleads to Spur Arms Talks Before It's Too Late

EIGHT KILLED IN JALOPY—Eight youngsters were killed Sunday when their rattle-trap car was rammed by a freight engine after a day of joy-riding at Somerset, Ky. Five of the youngsters, aged 12 to 17, were pinned in the car, which burst into flames. The engine dragged the auto a half mile. (AP Wirephoto)

Cites Cost As Ruinous To Nations

Warns Moscow That Hot Air Diplomacy Holds Grim Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Voice of America beamed throughout the world today Secretary of State Dulles' plea for steps toward disarmament before the problem of curbing hydrogen and atomic weapons becomes "totally unmanageable."

"As matters are going," Dulles said Monday night, "the time will come when the pettiest and most irresponsible dictator could get hold of weapons with which to bring immense harm."

His radio-television address was both a report to the American people on this country's efforts at the London disarmament conference and an appeal to Russia for new concession there to make some agreement possible.

Transmitters

Full summaries of Dulles' address were aimed particularly at Iron Curtain areas from Voice transmitters in Okinawa, Munich and even the Coast Guard vessel Courier in the Mediterranean.

The all-out "treatment" in the oversea broadcasts pointed up how much the Eisenhower administration was relying on Dulles' sober words to spur the East-West disarmament talks in London.

He stressed the dangers to mankind of continued delay in developing a first-step plan for curbing the grim threat of atomic-hydrogen warfare.

Soaring Costs

And in words aimed at Russia's rulers, he also cautioned that the cost of building and maintaining modern nuclear-equipped forces was soaring so high "no nation can sustain that cost without grievously burdening its economy."

Dulles carefully avoided harsh language and the usual denunciations of Soviet policy in what seemed a clear move to demonstrate America's sincerity in wanting a limited disarmament agreement.

Responsible officials said the timing of the Dulles speech was keyed to a belief that Russia must soon come up with such concessions, particularly an agreement to end atomic-hydrogen bomb production.

Grim Words

Dulles employed grim words to warn Russian leaders of what the future would hold if diplomats continued talking without "actually doing something."

The alternative, he said, is that mankind "must learn to live as

Jury Takes Over 2 Hours For Decision

Found Guilty on All Three Counts Criminal Contempt

BULLETIN

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—An all-white jury today convicted John Kasper and six Tennessee defendants in the Clinton segregation trial.

Completely upsetting defense predictions of blanket acquittal, the jury found Kasper and the six Clinton defendants guilty on all three counts of criminal contempt.

It acquitted four of the so-called "Clinton 10."

The jury deliberated 2 hours and 20 minutes before returning its surprise verdict.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A U. S. District Court jury today began at 10:21 a.m. CDT, its deliberations of the fate of 11 Clinton segregation case defendants.

A lawyers' wrangle delayed the start of deliverations more than 20 minutes after U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor finished his charge to the jury.

The defense objected to Taylor's characterization of a vital part of the case as a "well-intentioned act from the standpoint of integration."

Bloody Beating

The episode involved the bloody beating of the Rev. Paul Turner, young Baptist minister in Clinton. He was assaulted last Dec. 4 after escorting six Negro students past segregationist advocates on the streets of the little highland town near Knoxville.

"From the standpoint of integration, what he (Turner) did was a well-intentioned act," Taylor said in his charge to the jury.

When he finished his charge at 9:58 a.m. Taylor excused the jury and asked the opposing lawyers whether they had any objections or comments on it.

Objected to Description

William Shaw, assistant attorney general of Louisiana, objected to the judge's description of the minister's action.

He also questioned whether, in the words of the U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr., Turner had a "perfect right to be there."

The jury came back but was excused a second time before Taylor finally sent the 10 men and two women off to begin deliberations.

The judge carefully explained the three parts of the government's charge against the 10 Tennessee defendants and John Kasper, black-haired Northern segregationist organizer.

This is the first major instance where a Southern jury has been called to decide a legal case involving an integrated school since the Supreme Court ruled that segregation is unconstitutional. All the jurors are white.

Over-all, the defense argued, the government presented "a drawn-eared case, flimsy, sketchy, without proof."

Attacked Supreme Court

They went further. They attacked the Supreme Court, newspapers and other news media, integrationists and the Department of Justice for sending FBI agents to Clinton.

"Why is it the President tells us troops will not be used to integrate the schools when he already has sent the FBI in here?" Simmons cried. "Why don't they expose the Communists who are behind these integration moves?"

Asst. U.S. Dist. Atty. James Meek replied.

Florid Language

Utilities Company Asking 7.5 Per Cent Rate Hike

Files Petition Today With State Commission

CHICAGO (Special)—The Commonwealth Edison Co. today filed a request with the Illinois Commerce Commission for a 7½ per cent rate increase for its customers and those of its Public Service Co. division.

The new rates affect substantially all classes of customers. Public Service serves 320 northern Illinois communities, including Dixon, and Edison serves Chicago.

The company had announced the proposed increase earlier this month, but the size of the raise had not been determined at that time. The effective date of the increase will depend on action by the Commerce Commission.

Willis Gale, Edison chairman, blamed higher costs for the rate increase request.

The total monthly increases provided under the new rate schedules for the principal classes of customers are as follows: residential $694,000, or an average of 7.1 per cent; small commercial and industrial $558,000, or 6.4 per cent; large commercial and moderate-sibe industrial $190,000 or 7.8 per cent; largest commercial and industrial $523,000, or 9.6 per cent.

The new schedules contain a provision for a flat service charge on residential accounts instead of the present higher charge for the first block of kilowatt-hours used.

The new service charge is fixed at $1.00 for the first ten kilowatt-hours or less used in Chicago and $1.50 for the first ten kilowatt-hours or less used in the Public Service area. Under the present schedules, the first 25 kilowatt-hours of use in Chicago are billed at 5.4 cents per kilowatt-hour. In the Public Service area the first 40 kilowatt-hours are now billed at 5.9 cents per kilowatt-hour.

For example, a Dixon residential customer presently using 200 kilowatt-hours a month would be billed $2.36 for the first 40 at 5.9 cents per kilowatt-hour; $2.04 for the next 60 at 3.4 cents, and $2.15 for the next 100 at 2.15 cents, for a total of $6.95.

Under the new schedule, the first 10 kilowatt-hours or less will cost $1.50. The next 90 will cost $3.24, at 3.6 cents, and the next 100 will cost $2.25 at 2.25 cents, for a total of $6.99.

Oust Rock Island City Manager in Stormy Session

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Rock Island's city manager, Conny Bodine, was ousted Monday night at a brief, but stormy, City Council meeting, marked by boos and fist-shaking from members of a capacity audience.

Bodine, who has served four years, was asked to resign after Mayor Warren C. Yerger cast the deciding vote in a 3-2 Council ballot.

Approximately 450 persons were jammed in the Council chambers.

Councilman Stanley Erikson men said that Bodine was being turned out without cause. He praised Bodine's work, and, referring to the ouster, said "This is the worst example of naked political power I have ever seen."

Leonard Ross, councilman who lost his bid to Yerger for the mayoralty in April by 15 votes, was interrupted by boos and catcalls from spectators when he arose and said the Council was "acting completely fairly."

Erikson criticized Yerger for taking "hasty action" after a little more than two months in the mayor's chair, saying that Yerger had spent part of the time since his election on vacation.

Ross then said Erikson, himself, was a neophyte in the Council, "and now he's trying to lead the people and assuming that he knows it all."

With the Council chambers echoing from shouts and conversation of the spectators, Yerger, on the advice of City Atty. Charles Marshall, called for an adjournment vote.

Yerger was quickly surrounded by a crowd. One or two persons shook their fists. Detectives of a 10-man detail moved in and escorted the mayor from the chambers through a rear door.

Gardner Departs Case in Big Huff

'Missing Witness' Turns Up in Waterloo, Iowa

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Convicted wife slayer Dr. Sam Sheppard, still seeking freedom after three years, today saw one hope crumble almost in his hand, but another glimmer of hope arise in Iowa.

Only hours after the unofficial "Court of Last Resort" pulled out of the Sheppard case in the face of Gov. C. William O'Neill's reversal of his permission for a lie detector test for Sheppard, a "missing witness" turned up in Waterloo, Iowa.

The witness is Ernest James Kilofolias, 32-year-old merchant seaman who says he hitchhiked a ride with an agitated young driver the night Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard was clubbed to death in her bed in Bay Village, Ohio, a Cleveland suburb.

Plan Identifications

He plans to try to identify, later in the day, pictures of Donald J. Wedler, 23, who has "confessed" the July 1954 slaying of a woman in a Cleveland suburb under conditions which, to a degree, parallel the Sheppard killing. No Ohio officials were available for comment on the Kolofolias development.

But, from Sheppard's viewpoint, the decision of the "Court of Last Resort" to drop his case is bad news indeed.

If the handsome 33-year-old osteopath really is innocent as he insists, the 'court's" decision capped the climax of a three-year nightmare.

Gardner and other members of the "court" received permission from O'Neill Friday to administer the lie test to the 33-year-old osteopath, convicted of the July 4, 1954, bludgeon-murder of his pregnant wife Marilyn in their Bay Village hame.

Admitted Slaying

O'Neill authorized the test after Donald J. Wedler, 23, held in Deland, Fla., on a burglary charge, admitted slaying a woman under circumstances resembling the Sheppard case.

Monday, however, O'Neill reversed his decision and canceled

Dim Outlook for Passage of Compromise School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Martin said today President Eisenhower is "not entirely satisfied" with the 1½-billion-dollar school aid bill but probably would accept it if Congress passes the measure.

Martin said, however, that "the outlook is not too good" for passage by Congress of the compromise measure. House debate began today.

The Massachusetts Republican spoke with newsmen at the White House after he and other GOP congressional leaders had held their weekly conference with Eisenhower.

Second Try

"If we don't get a bill this year, we won't get any," Rep. Kelley (D-Pa), author of the compromise, told a reporter. "This is the second try."

The House defeated a similar measure last year 224-194 after first tacking on an antisegregation amendment.

Telegram to Ike

Twelve Democratic members of the House Education Committee sent a telegram to President Eisenhower urging him to make "an extraordinary appeal forthwith" to Republican House members on behalf of the measure.

The Democrats said they were confident that "a solid majority" of Democrats would support the bill as they did last year.

"The pending bill contains all the main features which you recommended in your message last January," the telegram said.

Handful of Votes

"It is apparent that a shift of only a handful of Republican votes will mean success this year."

Another appeal came from representatives of 21 national organizations, who requested Eisenhower to give "unqualified and publicly stated support" to the pending measure.

Issues involved in the school aid controversy include economy, opposition to putting the federal government into a new spending field, disagreement on whether there is danger of federal control, and segregation.

Powell Amendment

Last year the House adopted an amendment by Rep. Powell (D-

Senate Set for Showdown On Issue of Voting Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate moved toward a possible showdown today on the issue of confining the administration's civil rights bill to the protection of voting privileges.

A coalition of Republicans and Democrats, headed by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), fought stubbornly against a growing wave of support for a proposal by Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) to strip from the bill powers to enforce other civil rights.

One major change was made in the bill when the Senate voted Monday to erase from the measure authority for use of federal troops to enforce court orders in civil rights cases.

Save Vestiges

Knowland told reporters he still thinks the bill's supporters can save some vestiges of the authority the House voted to give the attorney general toward the enforcement of equal rights.

However, Democratic nose counts were reported to have indicated upwards of 60 senators—a dozen more than the required 48—lining up behind the Anderson-Aiken proposal to strike most of Part 3 from the House-passed bill.

This part would authorize the attorney general to move on his own initiative to bring civil injunction suits to prevent interference with racial integration in the schools and public places in the South.

Limited Action

Backed by Knowland, Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) tossed into the hopper a proposal to limit such enforcement action to cases in

2 Men Charged With Murder of Amish Farmer

LACON, Ill. (AP) — Two men charged with first degree murder in the slaying of an Amish farmer near Mount Hope, Ohio, were to be turned over to Ohio authorities today.

State's Atty. O. B. Pace Jr., of Marshall County, said Sheriff Harry Weiss, of Holmes County, Ohio, was due to arrive here later today to take custody of the men, Michael G. Dumoulin, 20, of Wooster, Ohio, and Cleo Eugene Peters, 19, of 400 Maple Grove, Muscatine, Iowa.

Both were charged with murder Monday in the fatal shooting and stabbing of Paul M. Coblentz, 25, last Thursday night, at his home near Mount Hope. Coblentz was killed by two men who invaded his home when he fought to protect his wife and 1½ year-old child, both of whom were beaten. The killers fled in a stolen car.

Dumoulin and Peters were seized Monday at a road junction west of nearby Toulon after a two-day search for the assailants of Constable Emery Baldwin, 50, of Lacon. Baldwin was shot in the shoulder as he began an investigation of an apparent burglary in a locked summer cottage on the Illinois River near here. The assailants fled after the shooting. The stolen Ohio car was found near the cottage.

Charges of attempted murder were placed against Dumoulin and Peters in connection with the Baldwin shooting by Sheriff James Evans.

Caesar, Coca Plan Fall TV Reunion

NEW YORK (AP) — Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca are reported planning a TV reconciliation this fall.

The comedy team split up three years ago amid tears, confusion and explanations.

The New York Herald Tribune reported today that Caesar has confirmed he is dickering for a new half-hour show with Miss Coca.

"It will be a condensed form of 'Caesar's Hour,'" he was quoted as saying. "I'm not at liberty to say at this time where it'll be shown because nothing's been finalized as yet.

"I'm happy that Imogene will be with me."

Miss Coca is currently appearing at Detroit in a road show of the play "Janus." Caesar's show was dropped by NBC last month because of dwindling audience ratings.

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Lizzie Mae Allen knows now the fire department's principal function is extinguishing fires.

Monday the 51-year-old woman's basement was flooded with two inches of water after a heavy rainfall.

She walked to a fire alarm box and pulled the handle. Six pieces of equipment answered her call.

It didn't take Mrs. Allen long to find out that the person who told her the fire department pumped out flooded basements was wrong.

Fire department officials said no charges would be placed against Mrs. Allen.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Recent stories again focus attention to the needless deaths on our streets of pedestrians. This is a problem for which both the pedestrian and the driver must cooperate to defeat.

The driver must remember that a pedestrian has little chance against the vehicle he is driving. It weighs many times that of the pedestrian and when in movement becomes even more potent as an instrument of death. With these thoughts in mind, the driver should realize why he must be on the alert for pedestrians and why he must yield the right-of-way to them.

The pedestrian, too, has his obligations in this battle. A person who steps from behind parked cars into the street gives a driver little chance to avoid a serious if not fatal accident. Hundreds of Illinois citizens are killed or injured every year because they cross the street against the traffic signals.

And no matter how many times they are warned against it, there are always those who, going through the transition of driver to pedestrian, insist upon swinging open the car door and stepping into the street without taking time to observe if there is any traffic approaching. These persons either fail or refuse to recognize the fact that in such a case a driver seldom has time to turn out or stop.

Glenn Ford Did Go On a Date—In High School

By JAMES BACON
For BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Glenn Ford did go on a beach party with a young girl, as one of the scandal magazines recently reported.

"But," adds Glenn," the magazine made one serious error of omission. The incident described took place in 1935 when I was a student at Santa Monica High School and practically every student in the school—or any other high school or college—has done the same thing."

The article, Glenn claims, clearly left the impression that the incident took place after he became a movie star and the husband of dancer Eleanor Powell.

Glenn, a scoutmaster, upstanding citizen of Beverly Hills and proud father, is one of the few stars who will talk about the scandal stories.

"I think the public should learn how irresponsible and inaccurate these stories are."

He cites another scandal story about a reported feud with Marlon Brando in Japan while the two were making "Teahouse of the August Moon."

"Where that ever started I don't know," Glenn says. "I have nothing but the greatest admiration and respect for Marlon. You can quote me as saying that I think Marlon and Alec Guinness are the greatest living actors."

Glenn believes that the worst danger in the scandal tales is the influence on what once were family-type magazines, notably some of the Hollywood movie magazines.

"My last movie magazine story included a part on what I disliked about my wife and some of my leading ladies. I told the interviewer things I admired about Eleanor and the rest and also gave out some petty annoyances, strictly with tongue-in-cheek."

Glen says the article played up the dislikes and came out under the title: "Why Glenn Ford hates women."

British Launch Show of Force On Tribesmen

LONDON (AP)—British warplanes were reported launching a three-stage show of force today against rebellious tribesmen holding 5,000 square miles of the Persian Gulf state of Muscat and Oman.

Press dispatches from the new Middle East trouble spot said RAF planes had been ordered to drop leaflets demanding that the rebels abandon their four-day-old desert war against the pro-British Sultan of the little sultanate at the southeast corner of the Arabian Peninsula.

Should the insurgents go on fighting, the dispatches said, planes will be sent in to shoot up supply lines and paralyze rebel movements throughout the region.

The British, who have pledged aid for 46-year-old Sultan Said bin Taimur and accused "outside" forces of stirring up the revolt against him, appeared hopeful the uprising can be put down with only a show of air power.

Dismiss Murder Charge Against Teenage Girl

CHICAGO (AP) — A murder charge against a 17-year-old girl who was a state's witness in the trial of two boy companions acquitted of killing a Negro youth was dismissed in Criminal Court Monday.

Miss Eunice Miller had been indicted with David Vandersteeg, 19, and Dennis Moffitt, 18, on charges of murder in the shotgun slaying of Curtis Bivens, 17, last April 23. Vandersteeg and Moffitt were acquitted by a jury in Criminal Court last week.

Miss Miller, who was to have been tried separately, testified she was with the two boys in Vandersteeg's car the night Bivens was shot. She said the car had been stoned earlier by a group of Negroes on the South Side. Miss Miller, Vandersteeg and Moffitt are white.

Assistant State's Attorney Arthur O'Donnell made the request to dismiss the charge against Miss Miller, and it was granted by Judge Harold P. O'Connell.

Authorize Gas Storage Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Construction of $3,729,000 worth of storage facilities in the Cooks Mills area of Coles and Douglas counties, Ill., has been authorized for the Natural Gas Storage Co. of Illinois, Chicago.

The authorization was made Monday by the Power Commission.

The project involves construction and operation of 14¾ miles of 20-inch line connecting the storage field to the Texas Illinois Natural Gas Pipeline Co. transmission line.

The Large Type

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The reception committee here was somewhat bewildered when Miss Venezuela, fresh from the Miss Universe contest, told them her measurements.

"I'm 84-57-84," declared 19-year-old Sonia Dugarte, "and that's all the English I know."

It turned out that Miss Dugarte actually is that size — in centimeters.

In inches, she'd run something like 33.07-22.4409-33.07.

Senate Probers Want Background On Meany Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany's charge that the United Textile Workers "whitewashed" fund-juggling charges against its two top officials set Senate rackets probers searching today for the inside story.

The special Senate committee conducting the inquiry called union attorney Joseph Jacobs of Atlanta, Ga., for questioning.

Commiteee counsel Robert F. Kennedy identified Jacobs as a member of a five-man UTW group which reported in 1953 that "none of the union money has been misused."

This document had absolved the union's President Anthony Valente and Secretary-Treasurer Lloyd Klenert of various charges, including use of union money in 1952 to buy themselves swank new Washington suburban homes.

The report was prepared after Meany, then secretary-treasurer of the AFL and now president of the combined AFL-CIO, had questioned some of the union's transactions in 1952. Meany described the report Monday as a "complete whitewash."

Klenert testified Friday that he and Valente did use $57,000 of union money in part payment for the houses, but paid it back. He contended the whole deal was legitimate. Both have denied any wrongdoing.

Meany swore to the committee that both Klenert and Valente had denied the house-buying story in 1952. He announced he now will file fresh charges against both of them for a union "trial."

Ford Scholar Returns After Detainment

JAKARTW (AP) — Lucien Ira Zamorsky, Ford Foundation Scholar from Moline, Ill., left by plane for the United States today after being detained two months by Indonesian military police.

No formal charge was ever filed against him but Foreign Ministry officials said he was arrested May 18 for "practicing medicine on Halmahera island without a license." A Communist member of Parliament and Communist newspapers accused him of "illegal and suspected activities."

A 32-year-old anthropologist, Zamorsky was studying Indonesian folklore. He was arrested on Halmahera, in East Indonesia, while gathering material for a book on the folkways of the region.

His wife, Wilma, 28, lives in Moline.

Growing Boy

ELKIN, N. C. (AP)—Young Wally Holcomb is a basketball, football and tennis star at Elkin High School here.

He felt fine until someone noticed the backs of his legs, near the knees, seemed extra large. Were they swollen? Did they hurt?

No, said Wally, but then he began to worry. His knees began to hurt.

Two doctors diagnosed cysts and operated.

They cut into the first leg—and found big leg muscles—no cysts. So they sewed him up again and sent him home.

How do his legs feel now?

"Okay," says Wally with a grin. "I wonder if they ever did really hurt."

Hope in Brussels

Next April in Brussels, Belgium, the first world's fair since the New York event of 1939-40 will be opened. All the early signs indicate that it will be a highly imaginative, stimulating fair which may well leave a strong positive mark on the world's peaceful endeavors.

Inevitably, fairs of worldwide scope stress industrial and commercial progress as well as cultural development. But the Brussels exhibition seems dedicated to a deeper, fuller expression of man's urgings toward a better world.

With the globe turning in the shadow of the threat of nuclear warfare, there could be no more suitable moment to declare faith —as the Brussels fair does—in "man's ability to mold the atomic age to the ultimate advantage of all nations and peoples."

While the world's newspapers tell of guided missiles and atomic warheads and radioactive fallout, at Brussels the big word will be hope. Pervading all the major industrial, scientific and cultural exhibits will be the hope that while time exists man can find a broad common path of peace and fruitful labor.

That the nations of the world are eager to join in a display of this spirit, in an expression of this overriding faith in man's future, is clear from the warm response organizers of the Brussels exhibition have received.

Some 50 countries and at least seven international organizations plan to take part in the fair. The great nations particularly appear bent on giving the world a convincing demonstration that they prefer to orient their talents and energies toward rewarding peaceful pursuits rather than sterile, destructive war.

Especially heartening from this vantage point is the fact that the United States, heretofore never notable for ambitious participation in the fairs of other lands, will be a leading contributor to the Brussels event. Its pavilion will be the biggest free-span circular building ever erected.

The people of Belgium are to be commended for their enterprise and vision in planning and preparing a world's fair dedicated so earnestly to human betterment in a time of trial. It deserves the support and attention of millions from many lands.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Fortunately most of us do not anticipate unpleasant events, including illness.

However, this means, among other things, that readers of this column do not as a rule become interested in a disorder until they or someone near to them have it. I presume it's for this reason that several people have inquired recently about angina pectoris, though I have written on this subject many times before.

Among the questions which confuse them is the relationship of angina pectoris to coronary thrombosis.

A coronary thrombosis is a complete blocking of one of the blood vessels supplying the heart. It is not the same as angina pectoris, though some people who have had a coronary thrombosis will also have symptoms of angina.

The meaning of the name of angina pectoris is simply "pain in the chest." But it is applied by physicians to a condition in which insufficient amounts of blood are flowing through the coronary arteries to the heart muscle.

If these vessels develop spasms — or more commonly if the passageways are partly narrowed — there will be times when not enough blood passes through them. The needs of the heart muscle for blood are not satisfied, and the pain of angina pectoris develops.

In typical instances, the pain is likely to be absent when the person with angina is resting. Pain is usually first noticed when the heart is pumping rapidly as happens when exercising (climbing stairs or running for a bus, for example). Under such circumstances, the heart needs larger quantities of blood than it does when resting.

The patient with angina may also have a feeling of anxiety, shortness of breath and cold, clammy sweating. A person who has angina pectoris must, therefore, learn how much exercise can be taken without producing symptoms.

Many victims of angina learn how to live with their hearts and have little or no discomfort and are able to continue most of their activities. Indeed, the outlook for patients with angina is by no means unfavorable.

The treatment of angina pectoris has likewise improved. The amount and nature of exercise which can be tolerated can be more closely calculated than in the past. Also, there are several drugs which will usually help the victim, though drugs do not cure the underlying cause.

A word should be said about surgery. Not every victim of angina is suitable for heart surgery, but it has been used with good results in some.

The major purpose of such surgery is to stimulate the formation of new blood vessels to the heart muscle to replace those which have been narrowed.

BOOKS

TAKE MY LIFE, by Eddie Cantor and Jane Kesner Ardmore (Doubleday).

There are few things so refreshing as finding an actor who writes about somebody else's life. Eddie Cantor's new book talks about Eddie Cantor, of course, but it talks a lot more about the people he knew from obscurity to fame.

The women in his life are fewer than those in the lives of most actors. There's Esther Kantrowitz, his grandmother, who was patient and prayerful when Eddie was a truant from school, a fighter, liar and pilferer after his mother died. Then came Ida, who helped him build a home and a fine family — all daughters. Fanny Brice was a friend of both for 40 years. The girls adored her, and Eddie and Ida comforted her when, after her marriage failed, she called in the early hours asking: "What are you doing?"

Then there were the men in his life, like Jimmie Durante, who made millions laugh but whose wife cried and died; Al Jolson, who could never congratulate another star who made a hit; Jack Benny, who gives and gives — often with blank checks; W. C. Fields, who taught him good literature, of all things; Will Rogers, who proved as big as everyone always knew he was.

Cantor tells about the people on his radio programs, his TV programs, his benefits, and through it all you get the picture of an actor who has had a full life and won a great many great friends. His big question, which he posed after his heart attack, was: "What have I lived for, really?"

His book gives the answer.

Need for Cooperation

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some sweet day in the not-too-distant future Congress, the executive departments of government and the Democrats and the Republicans are going to have to get together on a bipartisan public power policy, and then stick to it.

This has become increasingly apparent as a result of the kicking around this issue has received in the last few years.

The Eisenhower partnership power policy for cooperation between federal-state-local governments and private power companies has not had wide acceptance. There is still too much pressure to let the federal government do all or none of it.

The administration appointed a high - powered commission under retired Adm. Ben Moreell to study this question, then practically ignored its report.

When emerged finally was a cabinet-level committee to coordinate the activities of all government agencies interested in power and water resources. This committee still meets.

But what it has ever done, since issuing its initial policy statement, doesn't get in the papers.

It has no apparent ties with Congress. Anyway, Congress still plays the power issue by the feel of political pressure.

The administration first tangled with Congress over the Dixon-Yates contract in Tennessee Valley.

President Eisenhower now faces new trouble over his nomination of Budget Bureau official Arnold R. Jones to be a TVA director and the reappointment of Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall as a member of Federal Power Commission.

Because he has no knowledge of the area, no experience as an engineer and no congressional backing, the Jones appointment is taken as a calculated administration insult to TVA.

Chairman Kuykendall has been charged with a number of irregularities in connection with the granting of a license to Idaho Power Co. to build three dams on the Snake River.

A House Interior subcommittee's turndown of the alternate single high dam at Hells Canyon makes Kuykendall's confirmation more difficult poltically in the Senate.

There is general admission that the single high dam approved by the Senate, would have more fully developed the resources of the Snake. But because of its far greater cost, there is justification for not going through with it.

If the government built the one high dam at Hells Canyon it would mean that other projects in other part of the country would have to be delayed. The government just can't raise the money to build them all at once.

This is the point on which long-range government power development policy becomes necessary. A Bonneville Power Administration survey last year showed that even when all public and private power projects now licensed and under construction in the northwest are completed, there will still be a shortage of 184,000 kilowatt capacity by 1964-65 and 1,194,000 kw. shortage by 1966-67.

To make up this shortage, the Department of Interior is now considering the building of a new, high, public power dam at Pleasant Valley, below Hells Canyon on the Snake River.

Lower costs and greater benefits are claimed for Pleasant Valley than for Hells Canyon. But if Pleasant Valley is ever built, it would flood out a proposed third Idaho Power Co. low dam at Hells Canyon and it would have to be abandoned.

This, in effect, is a proposed administration compromise with its own partnership policy and an attempt to compromise with the advocates of the single high dam at Hells Canyon.

This whole situation is now cited as proof that sometime there must be an end to a power policy dominated by politics.

Today in Hollywood:

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — "To sing or not to sing?" — that is the question. The lady asking it is Julie London.

Her records in that low, curl-up-with-me-beside the - fireplace whisper are a hit parade all by themselves, even though Julie will tell you, 'I'm no singer, really. I have no voice. I'm an actress."

But one thing is sure: Julie London is a girl on fire in show business with a triple career of movies, TV and records. Movietown has become Londontown. Since tuning up her emoter in the movie, "The Great Man," the ex-Mrs. Jack Webb has starred on TV's Playhouse 90 in "Without Incident." At the moment she has Robert Taylor in her arms in a new MGMovie, "Saddle the Wind."

It's a western and she's laughing:

"I should never do westerns. I'm scared to death of horses."

She has two new record albums, "About the Blues" and "London by Night." Telefilm cameras soon will roll on a Julie London starring musical show planned as a series.

It's strange the way careers catch fire in Hollywood. This is Julie London's third trip on the stardom road. She hit roadblocks on the other two.

Ten years ago she thought so little of her chances for stardom that she finally gave up her budding career to marry a radio actor and movie bit player named Jack Webb and to become a housewife and a mother. Her two children by Jack are six-year-old Stacy and three-year-old Lisa.

Then came TV, and the "Dragnet" musical theme became a dirge for their marriage, which ended in a divorce. Julie wound up with a big chunk of Jack's TV loot for the kiddies but personally she was left with a double barrel of nothing —no marriage and no career.

TO GET THE dum-da-da-dum off her mind and out of her ears, she started to sing. Coaching her from the sidelines was a young musician named Bobby Troup. Together they made sweet music — professionally and personally. They are expected to marry this summer.

Julie's first career was at Warner Bros. Alan Ladd's wife, Sue Carol, a former Hollywood agent, met the Santa Rosa, Calif., blonde with the cascading tresses and arranged a screen test for her.

Warner Bros. gave her a contract, the usual "starlet" title and a memo, "Option Not Renewed," after one movie, Gary Cooper's "Task Force." Career No. 2 for Julie was at Universal, where she played ingenues in movies like "Tap Roots" and girls-scared-to-death in mystery thrillers like "The Fat Man."

LIKE THE answer to the question, "To sing or not to sing?" Julie is confused about something else.

She says: "I always think of myself as a housewife type but I'm always cast as a bad, wild girl."

Julie was the sit-by-the-TV housewife when Jack's "Dragnet" hit TV's big time. Perfectionist Jack spent longer and longer hours working at the studio until eventually about the only time she saw him was once a week or on her TV screen as Sgt. Friday.

WHEN JACK asked, "All I want are the facts, ma'am," Julie was muttering, "All I want is Jack." That's Jack Webb, ma'am, not money.

To be real honest about it, Julie could have named Sgt. Friday as the heavy when she filed suit for divorce.

Ironically, one of Julie's gal pals when both were under contract to Universal has just joined her as a Hollywood comeback kid. She's Marjorie Lord, who once played ingenues along with Julie. Now Marjorie will be Danny Thomas' new TV wife in the fall.

Ruth Millett:

Well, what do you know? It looks as though Papa is going to get his easy chair back in the living room.

Why? Because Mama has decided that what Papa wants is more important in furnishing a house than trying to make the family living room look like a page out of a decorating journal?

Don't be silly. Papa is going to get his easy chair back because the decorators who influence Mama's taste have decreed that "easychair comfort is becoming fashionable for the living room."

With that word to guide her, Mama can now take Papa along when she picks out a sofa or a chair instead of choosing her furniture for looks alone.

She will dare to do this now because she has the go-ahead sign from those who decide what the well-dressed room will wear.

If any of her friends look down their noses at the furniture she has bought for comfort, she doesn't have to squirm.

HAS ANSWER

She can look her silent critic in the eye and say with all the assurance in the world, "Now that comfort is fashionable for the living room, I decided to get rid of that chair and sofa Jim has always complained about."

And her friend, no doubt, will be impressed to the point of going home and calling a second-hand furniture dealer to come by and make her an offer on a few uncomfortable items in her own living room.

That's the way the word passes along. And it's just a lucky break for men when comfortable chairs are the "latest" instead of pillows on the floor or chairs that are long on "line"—but short on comfort.

Whats Right

Taking a moment to tell a speaker how much you enjoyed his talk or to tell a presiding officer how well he handled a meeting is a courtesy that is bound to be appreciated. Most people who appear on programs wonder afterward if they did all right.

And they are never quite sure unless someone takes the trouble to say something complimentary.

THE HAROLD STERENBERGS

Marcia Crawford Bride Of Harold Sterenberg

MT. MORRIS—Residing in Polo are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sterenberg who were wed recently in Mt. Morris Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church.

Mrs. Sterenberg is the former Marcia Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark L. Crawford, Mt. Morris and her bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Richard Sterenberg and the late Richard Sterenberg, Polo.

Rev. Luther Cooperrider performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Phyllis Horst, organist, and Miss Jo Anne Madlena provided nuptial music.

Marcia wore a gown of Schiffili embroidered nylon tulle, with a sweep train. Tier on tier of scalloped embroidery graced the skirt. Her matching open crown headpiece, with a pearl and iridescent sequin crown held a waist veil of English illusion. The bride's flowers, roses and white feathered carnations, with hints of Carol Amling roses and ivy, were fashioned in a minature cascade.

The bride's attendants were: Mrs. Ronald Heck, Centralia, matron of honor, and Miss Leota Plunkett, Alpha.

They wore full circle, ballerina frocks of embroidered flocked nylon sheer over pink taffeta, fashioned with wide square necklines and no sleeves. The fitted empire bodices were finished with crushed taffeta. Their pink nylon hats were of rose print on pink sheer with deeper velvet bow accents, and streamers trimmed in seed pearls. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and Carol Amling roses.

Sandra Ditzler niece of the bridegroom, was gowned in pink as she scattered rose petals before the bride. Keith Hinricks, Milledgeville, was ring bearer.

Lauren Sterenberg attended his brother as best man with John Ditzler as groomsman. Ushers were: Dwight Sterenberg and Galen Voss, Sterling.

Reception

Baskets of orange blossoms pink roses and coral bells decorated the fellowship room of the church for a reception attended by 160 guests. Roses, in various hues of pink and huckleberry greens surrounded the five tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Duane Bothe presided at the punch bowl. Others who assisted at the reception were: Misses Lois King and Laurel King, Sterling; Miss Susan Tazwell, Harvard; Mrs. Richard Stone, Clinton, and Miss Kathleen Swan, Mt. Morris.

For traveling Marcia wore a black and white sheath dress with a short orange jacket and white accessories.

Marcia, a graduate of Mt. Morris High School, received her B.S. degree in education from Illinois State Normal University. She is a member of chapter CU, PEO Sisterhood, Mt. Morris and Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Dixon. The past two years she has been on the faculty of the Dixon schools.

Her bridegroom, a Polo High School graduate, attended Central college, Pella, Ia. He is engaged in farming near Polo.

Marcia plans to continue teaching in Jefferson School, Dixon.

Eula J. Lindon, Marvin E. Meier Wed In Rochelle

ROCHELLE— Apple River will be the first home of newlyweds, the Marvin Edward Meiers. Mrs. Meier is the former Eula Jean Lindon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Lindon, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meier are the bridegroom's parents.

Dr. George Robert Keepin, of the Methodist church, officiated at the late June wedding. Nuptial music was by Mesdames DeVerne Coleman and Ray Law.

Given in marriage by her brother, Ralph Lindon, Gillmore, Ky., the bride wore Swiss embroidered organdy over taffeta in a waltz length. Her elbow length veil of imported English illusion was held by an organdy mushroom plaited hat with a scalloped edged pearl trim. White mums and pink sweetheart roses were in her bouquet.

Miss Alta Lindon was maid of honor and Miss Wanda Lindon, bridesmaid. Both are sisters of the bride. They wore white organdy over taffeta with a bordered design of pale pink and green. Their matching picture hats were of white sheer braid with pale pink velvet bow trim and they carried colonial bouquets of sweetheart roses.

Kenneth Meier served his brother as best man and Jerry Meier, another brother, was groomsman. Lyle Lethlean and Louis Studier ushered.

The bride's mother wore pink with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother was in navy with harmonizing accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

A reception was held in the church parlors. Assisting were Mesdames Merle Talbot, Lyle Lethlean and Ronald Hood also Misses Pauline Bremmer, Kay Parks and Elaine Gehant.

For departing on a wedding trip to Wisconsin and Minnesota the bride donned a sheath dress in two shades of blue with white accessories and a lei sent from a friend in Hawaii.

The bride received her B.S. in Home Economics from Berea College and taught in the Rochelle Township High School.

Ruth Haller, Frank James Repeat Vows

MT. MORRIS — Frank Eugene James and bride, the former Ruth Helen Haller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Haller, Jacksonville, Fla., are now residing at 1611 Stockston st., Jacksonville, Fla. Frank is the son of Mrs. Mary James, Mt. Morris.

The wedding, an event of late June, took place in the Mt. Morris Methodist church. Rev. Wilbur Hopkins officiated. Mrs. Charles Ross, organist, and Mrs. Delbert Schell, soloist, provided nuptial music.

The bride wore a gown of lace and net designed with lace which swept into a train. She carried a cascade of white carnations, centered with a white orchid. Miss Judy Olson, Oregon, attended the bride. Her gown was of blue net with lace trim.

Donald Tumilty, Lincoln, served as best man and the ushers were: James Rosenbalm, Oregon and Curtis Krueger, Mt. Morris.

As the newlyweds left for Florida, the bride wore a suit of beige with matching accents.

The bride, a graduate of Julia Landon High School, Jacksonville, has currently been employed by Moose, Chicago. Frank graduated from Mt. Morris High School and is employed by Bendix Radio, Jacksonville.

Start Vacation With Moderate Exercises

Although everyone is usually eager to enjoy the outdoors on the first day of vacation, it's best to begin with moderate doses of activity.

This advice comes from E. H. Regnier, University of Illinois rural recreationist.

The riding trail, tennis court, golf course and trout stream will still be there tomorrow and next week.

Many muscles that you haven't used all year will become stiff and sore with too much exercise all at once. Aching muscles don't add to vacation pleasure, so stop and rest when you feel that you're getting tired.

Catch up on your reading and relaxing between sessions of physical exercise. Varying your recreational program will keep you from becoming bored or tired.

Fatigue is not all physical. To relax fully, you must leave your worries behind, says Regnier.

INTEGRITY . . . . Among people that are well informed about about American busines, it is a truism that every business that hopes for lasting success must base its operations on integrity—on living up to all its obligations to the public. Those who, for reasons of their own, are pleased to be critical or even hostile toward the free enterprise system are doing their best to create the impression that business is run on the principle of giving the customer as little as possible, and taking as much as can be squeezed out of him. It ought to be obvious that as long as there is competition, customers will not stand for that kind of treatment for very long. Both ethics and good business practice require a business to give the customer the best product or service possible, at the least cost to him. This is the main ingredient of customer good will, which is perhaps the most valuable asset that any company can own.

AAA RECOMMENDED . . . . Many people, when traveling, stop only at places displaying the blue and white emblem of the American Automobile Association. These establishments are carefully selected by AAA Field Reporters who maintain a constant coverage of all the principle highways over the country in search of accommodations that meet the broad requirements of the Association's five million members. All hotels with the AAA emblem are rigidly inspected and must constantly comply with the many regulations set forth by the field men. Cleanliness is perhaps the first consideration, followed by comfortable rooms and beds, ample parking space, an adequate number of employees, posted rates and a multitude of lesser things having to do with service and buildings in general. Of the 65,000 hotels and motels in the United States, only 15% offer facilities and service which in the opinion of the AAA, are suitable to be listed in their directory for issuance to their members. These 15% are selected solely on merit. Incidentally, there is always an AAA directory available for your use at our front desk.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Martha Metzen

Mrs. Martha Metzen, 67, 1314 W. First St., died at the KSB Hospital at 1 p.m. Monday following a long illness.

She was born in Mendota Aug. 13, 1889. In 1906 she married Joseph Metzen. About seven years ago she moved from Amboy to Dixon.

Mrs. Metzen is survived by four sons, Joseph, William and Harold of Amboy, and Theodore of Dixon; three daughters, Mrs. Mary Litts, Mrs. Ruth Clayton and Mrs. Cecelia Jones, all of Dixon; a sister, Mrs. Frances Becker of Troy Grove; 18 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband in 1947, her son Conrad in 1937, her parents, a brother, a sister and a granddaughter.

Funeral services will be held from the home of the deceased at 9 a.m. Thursday and from St. Patrick's Catholic Church at 9:30 a.m. The Rev. Father T. S. Green will officiate.

Burial will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery at Amboy. The Preston Funeral Home has charge of arrangements.

Friends may call after 2 p.m. today at the home of the deceased.

Swope Infant

COMPTON — (Special) — Graveside services were held last Saturday morning in Restland Cemetery, Mendota, for Geneva Ellyn Swope, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Swope, Compton. Born July 12, she died July 18, in the Geneva Community Hospital, Geneva, Ill.

Survivors include her parents, grandparents, Mrs. Art Bettner, Compton, and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Swope, Compton, and three great grandmothers, Mesdames Victorine Bettner, West Brooklyn; Florence Mireley, Compton, and Edna Swope, Mendota.

Rev. Norman Burk

The Rev. Norman Burk, Rockford, formerly rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Dixon, died at 1 a.m. today in a Rockford hospital. He was rector of the Rockford Episcopal church.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Rockford, with Bishop Gerald Francis Burrill, Bishop of the Chicago Diocese, officiating at the Requiem Mass. The very Rev. Vernon L. S. Jones, Dixon, is in charge of arrangements for the funeral.

Father Burk was a rector of St. Luke's, Dixon, for nine years, leaving Dixon fifteen years ago to go to the Rockford pastorate.

Dr. Romeo Zulauf

DeKALB — (Special) — Dr. Romeo M. Zulauf, 54, dean of instruction at Northern Illinois University, died at 10 a.m. Monday in his office at the university.

College officials reported that when Dr. Zulauf had become ill a short time before, he had telephoned his wife who arrived immediately. A college physician and the family physician were present at the time of his death.

Dr. Zulauf joined the college staff in 1928 as an instructor in economics and social science. When the college adopted a revised plan of administrative organization in 1952, he was named dean of instruction, supervising the instructional staff, the largest of four divisions of the university.

He is survived by his wife, Eleanor Parson Zulauf, and a son and daughter.

Philip Dickinson

Philip Dickinson, about 38, 916 Van Buren, died Thursday in a Chicago Hospital of a heart ailment.

Services were held Saturday afternoon in Chicago with burial to be in Iowa.

He was a biologist in the state conservation department.

He is survived by his widow and several children.

Details were not available.

Manie Boomgarden

ROCHELLE —(Special)— Manie Boomgarten, 76, a life-long Ogle Co. farmer and resident of Monroe Center, died in Rockford Memorial Hospital this morning following a long illness.

He was born in Ogle County May 12, 1881. On Feb. 17, 1903, he was married to Allie Brummer in Rockford. She preceded him in death in 1955.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Grace Miller, and a granddaughter of Davis Junction; five brothers, Charles and George, Rockford; Richard and Wesley, Monroe Center, and Luther, Genoa, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Zimmer, Belvidere.

Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the Unger Funeral Home, Rochelle. The Rev. LaVerne Mueller, pastor of the Monroe Center Union Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Monroe Center Cemetery.

Friends may call Wednesday afternoon and evening in the funeral home.

House of Representatives, Senate Honor Mrs. Shaw

During the recent session of the Illinois General Assembly, both the House of Representatives and the Senate passed the following resolutions in memory of the late Mrs. George Shaw, Dixon, who died June 13.

The text of the resolutions follow:

State of Illinois
Seventieth General Assembly
Senate
Senate Resolution No. 59
Offered by Senator Collins

Whereas, this Senate learned with sincere regret of the death of Mrs. George Shaw, beloved wife of a former member of the General Assembly and the editor and publisher of the Dixon Telegraph; and

Whereas, continually willing to be of service to her community, Mrs. Shaw gave freely of her time and efforts to promote and participate in worthwhile civic, social, and welfare activities in her home town of Dixon; and

Whereas, through her loving guidance and quiet encouragement as a devoted wife and beloved mother, Mrs. Shaw played a significant role in attaining happiness and success for her family; and

Whereas, the death of one of our finest citizens, who was beloved by all who knew her, constitutes a grievous loss to the people of her community and state; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the Seventieth General Assembly of the State of Illinois, that we express our deep sorrow at the death of Mrs. George Shaw; that we extend sincere sympathy to her bereaved family; and that a suitable copy of this preamble and resolution be forwarded to Mr. Shaw.

Adopted by the Senate, June 19, 1957

the lie test after the "court" informed him that Wedler's statement may be "just plain deception."

Bristling over the latest development, Gardner emphasized at a news conference in the Deshler Hilton Hotel here that he will "absolutely not" see the governor.

Wants Invitation

"I have no intention of seeing Gov. O'Neill without an invitation," he said, and then added: "However, I would like to talk unofficially with a member of his staff to explain our position and belief in the matter."

Gardner said he felt the Court of Last Resort motives were misinterpreted in its investigation of the Sheppard murder. The "court," sponsored by Argosy magazine, is an unofficial group of crime experts who seek to determine the innocence of persons they believe wrongly convicted of crimes.

He said of his and the "court's" preliminary investigation into the Wedler "confession" that "I made no inconsistent or conflicting statements in my report to Gov. O'Neill . . . We have no desire to see Dr. Sheppard turned loose. We have no ax to grind. Many persons have pooh-poohed us (the "court") as a commercial enterprise but I can assure you our interest in the matter is to see that justice is done."

Test for Sheppard

Gardner also asserted that unless a lie test is given Sheppard, he will not under any circumstances seek an interview with the prisoner.

"I wouldn't see Sheppard even if I were invited," the celebrated crime writer said. "I have no interest in him."

Gardner said O'Neill's action placed Ohio's justice "on trial before the bar of public opinion in every state in the Union."

Popular Feeling

"By the time Ohio wakes up to how the people feel about this case, they will be darned glad to have someone help them out of the mess they are in," he said.

Referring to an investigation of Wedler in Florida to be conducted by Samuel R. Gerber, Cuyahoga County Cleveland coroner, Gardner declared: "I doubt if Wedler can be judged accurately by a prejudiced mind. This investigation will be like the trial of "Alice in Wonderland" where the jury gave the verdict and then heard the evidence."

At Daytona Beach, Fla., Meanwhile, Gerber, on his way to Deland, expressed surprise at the Court of Last Resort's withdrawal in the case.

Gerber and his aides are investigating Wedler's statements, the coroner told newsmen, "because we feel Gardner and the Court of Last Resort are responsible for so much publicity, we want the city of Cleveland to be on record as being anxious to know whether this fellow Wedler has anything to do with it."

Expressing skepticism about Wedler's confession, Gerber said about 25 other persons have confessed the July 4, 1954, killing "and this one is just another one to me."

oratory, thundered: "The question before this court is not integration or segregation. The question here is whether the law is to be obeyed. What you have heard is an all-out attack on the courts."

Meek picked up the words of lawyers who said they predicted trouble in the South the day they read the Supreme Court decision on segregation.

"They practically invited you to ignore the law," he said.

Only Two Roads

"Now there are only two roads. We will either be governed by law and settle our differences peaceably, or we will have mobs, insurrection, anarchy.

"The soil of the Southland surely will again be drenched with the blood of our fellow men if each of us is to decide for himself whether to obey the law.

"Which road do you want to follow? That—and not the question of segregation or integration — is the broader and deeper issue here."

Reports Child Not Paralyzed

Cheryl Alter, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Alter, Rt. 1, Dixon, who was reported "nearly totally paralyzed" by polio in a story from the Lee County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis last week, is in much better condition than the story indicated, the child's mother said today.

The child is able to move about in bed and to move herself slowly about in a wheelchair, the mother said. Cheryl has been a patient in Forrest Park Hospital, Peoria, for 11 months.

In correcting the story, which appeared in The Telegraph a week ago, Mrs. Alter acknowledged the financial help from the polio organization.

Manville Says Adieu to No. 10

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The San Antonio Express and News today quoted asbestos heir Tommy Manville as saying he and his 10th wife, Pat Gaston, formerly of San Antonio, had separated.

"She seems dissatisfied because she can't ask for anything more," Manville said in an interview.

"She wanted a swimming pool and she got it. She wanted a new bedroom, and she got that."

Manville, 63, and the former Follies showgirl were married 2½ months ago.

Mrs. Manville, 27, returned to New York Sunday after visiting relatives in San Antonio.

William Martin, 711 Highland Ave., was fined $25 and costs Monday by Police Magistrate Lawrence E. Boos on a charge of failure to stop for a stop sign after Martin was involved in an automobile accident at Brinton Avenue and Bradshaw Street.

Ernest Jeanblanc, Rt. 2, Dixon; Floyd Nettz, Rt. 3, Dixon, and Robert L. Fane, 1245 N. Galena Ave., were fined $11 and costs each on speeding charges.

Richard Cooper, 216 E. Fifth St., and Howard Mantch, 605 Madison Ave., each paid $5 cafeteria court speeding fines.

Give Rochelle Taverns One Extra Hour

ROCHELLE — (Special) — A resolution to allow taverns to extend closing time from midnight until 1 a.m. during daylight saving time was passed Monday night at a meeting of the Rochelle City Council. A meeting of the Board of Public Improvements was held after the council session.

Representatives of tavern keepers attended the council meeting to hear the council's report on the tavern keepers' request to extend the closing time. Also discussed at the meeting was a statement by Emmett Hickey, commissioner, that heavy truck traffic was making necessary a restriction on truck loads.

Hickey and Paul O'Neil city attorney, plan to confer on the possibility of an ordinance to prohibit heavy truck traffic on city streets which are being damaged by the heavy traffic.

Phil Nye, an attorney, reported to the council that he had started to pave his terrace with bricks in a sand base in front of his residential property on north Lincoln Highway, when he learned from Hickey that Hickey did not approve such a project.

Hickey said the bricks were not satisfactory and would heave and depress, possibly causing an accident in which a citizen could sue the city for damages.

Hickey said it is probable that terraces in this area will soon be paved with concrete. The matter was referred to Martin Heltness, building inspector, for a decision on whether or not a building permit should be issue to Nye to finish the project. Nye was doing the work himself with the help of his sons.

Ray DeCourcey, city clerk, read an appropriation ordinance totaling $2,179,237.88. Broken down, the ordinance includes:

Department of Public Health and Safety: $80,007; Department of Streets and Public Improvements: $48,200; Street improvement program: $160,937.50; Department of Public Property: $34,800; Department of Public Affairs: $1,000; Municipal Band: $8,000; Illinois Municipal Retirement: $22,000.

Also in the appropriation ordinance were: garbage collection: $21,000; hospital: $299,480.88; Electric Department: $1,403,262.50; Water Department: $145,840.

After the council meeting members met as the Board of Public Improvements. A plan for improving approximately 24 residential streets with curgs, gutters, storm sewers and resurfacing of streets was adopted. Cost will be about $172,500.

A list of names representing 15 property owners on Fourteenth St. against the improvements was received, as was a list of three names in favor of the improvements.

The improvement plan will cost property owners approximately $8 per foot on frontage property and $4. on side improvement streets. Balance of the cost, approximately 50 per cent of the total, is paid from the motor fuel tax funds.

Property owners have ten years to pay assessments and would have to pay six per cent interest on the unpaid balance, according to Paul O'Neil, city attorney. The Board recommended acceptance of the plan and will present it to the council for action.

If the plan is passed, curbs and gutters will be completed this year. Some grading work may be done and a rock base put on the street surfaces, also.

NY) which would have denied federal aid to school districts practicing racial segregation in the classrooms. Then the House killed the bill.

"I think we can defeat the Powell amendment," Kelley said. "They remember what happened last year."

Rep. Wainwright (R-NY) has said he will reoffer the Powell amendment. Powell has been recuperating from a collapse.

Eisenhower has been urging Congress since 1953 to enact some sort of legislation to help the states catch up on a backlog of classroom shortages.

This year's bill, hailed as a bipartisan compromise, would authorize a five-year program of 300 million dollars a year in grants to the states, to be matched by them on a 50-50 basis.

In addition, the measure would authorize the federal government to buy up to 750 million dollars of construction bonds from local school districts unable to find markets at reasonable interest rates.

An additional 150 million dollars would be authorized to help the credit of state school financing agencies — thus bringing the total federal participation to $2,400,-000,000.

Coincidental Cooperation

LONDON (AP)—It was an embarrassing moment when two separate gangs of robbers found they had chosen the same time of the same night to break into the same store and haul away the same safe.

One gang of three tiptoed into the London suburban grocery store and surprised another trio in the act of removing the safe.

There was an awkward silence after both gangs established they were in the same line of business.

Finally they decided to join forces and together lugged the half-ton safe into a truck to divide the spoils later.

Somebody meantime had tipped off Scotland Yard, and detectives rounded up the coalition before the 100 pounds ($280) in the safe could be shared out.

Railway Company Lists Tax Bill For Lee County

The Chicago and NorthWestern Railway Co. will pay Lee County $85,674.28 in 1956 taxes, the company announced today.

The breakdown shows $10,132.72 for county taxes; $62,398.13 for school taxes; $2,451.77 for township taxes; $3,194.96 for city and village taxes; $5,138.11 for township road and bridge and road bond taxes; $323.60 for park district taxes and $2,034.99 for fire protection district taxes.

Counties surrounding Lee County will get the following:

Bureau, $45,557.94; DeKalb, $79,-961.54; LaSalle, $15,550.02; Ogle, $24,088.78, and Whiteside, $84,-062.36.

Senate

which the President specifically directed the attorney general to act.

This was obviously designed to chip away some of the Republican support for the Anderson - Aiken proposal.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leading the Southern forces, said he does not think the Senate would want to leave the decision on such matters to the "left-wingers" of either party he said are likely to occupy the President's and attorney general's chairs in the future.

Unable to Agree

Knowland said Republicans and Democrats who want something more than protection of voting rights left in the bill had not been able to agree on any two-party substitute for the Anderson-Aiken proposal.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said in a separate interview he thinks there still is some hope of reaching some agreement before the Senate votes on the issue.

Still ahead is the Southerners' battle for a guarantee of jury trials for persons charged with contempt of court for alleged violation of civil rights injunctions.

Revising Amendment

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), author of one such proposal, announced he was revising his amendment to make it clear that jury trials would not be required in cases where defendants could clear themselves of contempt by complying with the court's orders.

O'Mahoney scoffed at Justice Department contentions that criminal action against civil rights violators is impractical because Southern juries won't convict. Jury trials are required in criminal cases.

"The Justice Department has never attempted one criminal prosecution in a civil rights case," he said. "They just say they can't get convictions; they don't know."

In a rare show of unity, the Senate voted 90-0 Monday to amend the bill to repeal a Reconstruction era law authorizing the use of federal troops to enforce court orders in civil rights cases.

This lifted from the bill, with the approval of its proponents and opponents, a provision Russell had charged would authorize "bayonet rule" enforcement in the whole field of civil rights.

The Senate's action removed the last possibility the House-passed bill could become law without further House action. If the Senate passes the measure, the House either will have to concur in Senate changes or face the renewed possibility of a Senate filibuster against a compromise version of the House and Senate measures.

Fund Shortage Is Settled

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — A $148,225 shortage in funds of the Central Illinois District Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, has been settled, church officials have disclosed.

Announcement of the settlement came in a letter to the entire district, stating that the board of directors has agreed to accept $60,000 from the Mercantile Trust and Savings Bank, Quincy.

The district's funds were held by the bank during the tenure of the late Andrew Schnack, president of the bank and a Lutheran district officer for 22 years until he died in 1955.

An audit after his death revealed the $148,225 shortage.

In addition to the $60,000 settlement, the district also got $15,000 from Schnack's bonding company. Auditing and legal fees took $11,-416 of the amount received.

Church officials were not available for additional comment Monday.

Record Sales Peak For Ford Motors

DETROIT (AP) — FORD Motor Co.'s sales hit a record peak in the first six months of 1957.

President Henry Ford II said Monday that sales totaled $3,009,500,000, passing the three-billion-dollar mark in a six-month period for the first time.

The figure represented an increase of 27 per cent over sales during the first six months of last year.

Crossed Wires

NEW YORK (AP)—A model who says the telephone is her "only vice" and an actress who calls it her "lifeline" went to court Monday in a row over the phone in the apartment they share.

Red-haired model Sheryl Parks, 25, and blonde actress Didi Roberts, also 25, filed cross-complaints of assault. Each of the shapely roommates accused the other of assault with a high-heel shoe.

"The phone is my lifeline," said Didi. "That girl was constantly on the phone."

"Some girls like to drink and go out on dates," explained Sheryl. "I don't. My only vice is using the phone."

The girls' phone bill for May and June totaled $328.

Old Statute Was Means to Disrupt 'Rights' Measure

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the story of how three Southern senators found three big talking points to cause division and surprise among supporters of President Eisenhower's civil rights bill.

There would seem hardly any reason for surprise if members of Congress, North and South, had done their homework by reading a lawbook for no more than 30 minutes.

The three Southerners who developed the talking points, all Democrats, are Senators Russell (Ga), Ervin (NC) and Eastland (Miss). They got a big helping hand from Robert Young, a lawyer on the staff of Eastland's Judiciary Committee.

Their three points:

Russell—This bill would permit the President to use troops to back up court orders in civil rights cases. Eastland—under this bill people could be compelled to be informers. Ervin—The bill would deprive a man of trial by jury.

This is the background for what follows:

There is an old 1871 law—called Section 1985—which says anyone whose civil rights are violated can sue in federal court for damages or ask a judge to order the violation stopped. This law covers a very broad field of civil rights.

Many Southern Negroes, particularly the poorest, never heard of the law and, if they did, couldn't afford a court fight. So the Eisenhower bill proposes:

Section 1985 should be amended to let the attorney general step in and ask for a court order to stop a civil rights violation. Anyone disobeying could be tried for contempt by the judge, without jury trial, and sent to jail.

If you took the trouble to go into a law library and ask the clerk to let you see the civil rights laws, you'd find three pages of them listed together in what is called the U.S. Code—meaning a collection of laws still on the books.

Two of them apply directly to Section 1985 and therefore—since the Eisenhower bill would amend Section 1985 by adding new powers to it—they would apply to the bill if it became law.

One says the President can use troops to back up a court order issued under Section 1985; the others says—and it's called the "Compulsory Informer Act"—that anyone even knowing of a conspiracy to violate a person's civil rights under Section 1985 must tell the government or face damages.

But when Atty. Gen. Brownell appeared before the House Judiciary Committee in 1956 and 1957—when the bill was being considered—no one questioning him asked about the use of troops and compulsory informers.

He didn't volunteer the information. When the House passed the bill in 1956 and again in 1957, both times after lengthy debate, no mention was made of the use of troops and informers in connection with the bill.

House members made their big pitch on the trial-by-judge issue this year, but only after Ervin had been talking about it in the Senate for months. It was Ervin himself who made this a prime issue.

But it was different when Brownell appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee. Young had taken the trouble to look up the old civil rights laws which—in addition to Section 1985—might be affected by Eisenhower's bill.

He told Ervin. Ervin let Young question Brownell about the use of troops and how it was directly tied in with the old law to be amended. Brownell blew up, refused to discuss it, even when Ervin chimed in, and said it was an affront to the President.

Maybe Brownell was truly surprised. It's possible he didn't look up the old laws either, and simply had relied on lawyers in his Justice Department to draw up the Eisenhower bill.

Russell, in reading over the record of the Senate Judiciary Committee, noted Young's questioning of Brownell on troops. He asked Young for more information. Young gave him a detailed explanation.

On July 2 Russell made a biting speech against the bill, noting the use-of-troops tie-in with it, and denounced it as cunning and devious. This even seemed to be news to Eisenhower, who then began to act puzzled about his bill.

Meanwhile, Young told Eastland of the tie-in between the Eisenhower bill and compulsory informers. Eastland on July 11 made savage attack on the bill, pointing up the compulsory informer angle.

Monday the Senate voted unanimously to repeal the old law on the use of troops.

Nation's Forests Back in Balance

WASHINGTON (AP)—The forestry industry claimed today that wide adoption of proper management practices has brought the nation's tree production into balance with tree cutting for the first time in the 20th century.

A report issued by the American Forest Products industries credited this to a "tree farm" movement started 16 years ago. Under this movement, owners of forestry land reseed and replant cutover land as soon as timber is removed.

George Washington presided over the Constitutional Convention.

McCarthy, Crawford Honored

Marse Joe Gives Thanks To Players

Chicago White Sox Slaughter St. Louis In Exhibition Game

By JACK HAND

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Looking back over 43 years of baseball stretching from Wilmington, Del., to a niche in the Hall of Fame, Joe McCarthy summed up his thoughts in a few brief words.

"Gee, I wish I could do it all over again."

Sentiment brought tears to the eyes of Samuel (Wahoo Sam) Crawford as the 77-year-old former outfielder also was formally inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame Monday in this historic village.

"I've come a long way to this day," he started. "I want to thank all my friends. I had a speech to make but I don't believe I can go through with it."

Officially Received

The two new members were officially received by Commissioner Ford Frick on a wooden platform that had been built under the shade trees in front of the Hall of Fame and baseball museum. The shirt-sleeved crowd jammed the street from curb to curb and overflowed onto the steps of the post office.

All eyes were trained on the platform where McCarthy and Crawford were being honored.

"When a player reaches the Hall of Fame," said McCarthy, "he doesn't have too many to thank. For the most part, he did it on his own. But a manager has so many people to thank."

Marse Joe, who won eight pennants with the New York Yankees and one with the Chicago Cubs and never finished worse than fourth in 24 years as a manager, named them all. He thanked the owners, coaches, trainres, writers, umpires and players.

Players Responsible

"Most responsible of all for my being here are the great players," said McCarthy. "And God knows, I had my share of the good ones. I won't try to list them all because I would not want to forget and leave somebody out."

Glancing toward Mrs. Lou Gehrig, widow of his former first baseman, McCarthy said, "seeing you brings back many a sad memory, but also a lot of happy ones."

McCarthy turned to Cal Hubbard, American League umpire supervisor, and thanked his profession. When the crowd laughed, Marse Joe flashed a bit of his Irish wit and said "not that they ever give you the best of it."

The 70-year-old "gentleman farmer" from East Amherst, N.Y., also pointed out the newsman who first suggested he might be a manager.

Got The Job

"In 1912, at Wilkes-Barre, Tom Brislin wrote a story saying I might make a manager," said McCarthy. "Bill Clymer gave me the job after he read the story."

McCarthy listed Bill Veeck Sr. and Phil Wrigley of Chicago, Col. Jake Ruppert, Ed Barrow and George Weiss of the Yanks and Tom Yawkey, Eddie Collins and Joe Cronin of the Red Sox as front office men who made his job easier.

"While most of them have passed away," he said, "they'll never be forgotten by me."

McCarthy broke into baseball with Wilmington in 1907 and retired because of poor health as Boston manager in 1950.

Crawford, a power hitter in the dead ball days, had a lifetime batting average of .309 in 19 years with 2,964 hits. He still holds the record for most triples with 312 in his career.

The Chicago White Sox defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 13-4 in the annual Hall of Fame trophy game at Doubleday Field, baseball's birthplace.

Henry Aaron Majors' Top Clutch Hitter

NEW YORK (AP)—Who is major league baseball's best clutch hitter?

As near as can be determined, he's Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves.

The 23-year-old Braves' slugger is the leader in game-winning blows—a system of rating the top clutch hitters devised by The Associated Press. Aaron has produced the pivotal hit in seven games this season.

Credit for a game-winning blow is given to each batter who puts his team ahead to stay in the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth or an extra inning.

Don Hoak of the Cincinnati Redlegs is second to Aaron in the National League with six game-winners. Bill Skowron, New York Yankee first baseman, paces the American League with five.

HICK HEAVYWEIGHT—Roy Harris trains in homemade diggings in his back yard. And the heavyweight gives opponents typical hometown Cut and Shoot treatment in the ring.

Harris Rougher'n Stucco Bath Tub

Cut and Shoot, Tex., Heavy Is Grade School Teacher

By FRANK GODSOE
NEA Special Correspondent

CUT AND SHOOT, Tex. (NEA)—Ever since he was knee high to a puddle duck, the folks here at Cut and Shoot, Tex.—a rough-and-you're-on-your-own town in the middle of what is known as the Big Thicket—have been saying that "Roy Harris is just rougher'n a stucco bath tub."

Today the boxing world and Willie Pastrano, in particular, knows it. Harris, a $229 a month rural school teacher, a $100 fighter a while back, bashed Pastrano around before a wild-eyed crowd of 9,826 star-eyed spectators in Houston a few months ago.

A Natural

To any of the 3,000 timber characters who came to Houston to see Harris win, it was only natural. Roy gave third-ranking Pastrano just about the same treatment city slickers get at Cut and Shoot, a place where they say if you stand around long enough you'll be cut and if you try to run you'll be shot.

Roy Harris is 23 and weighs 190 pounds and he now has victories over Bob Baker, Charley Norkus, Joe Rowan and Pastrano in an all-winning 21-bout career. He had a lot of amateur fights.

He has totally excited oil barons in Houston, who now say they'll put up any amount to get Floyd Patterson down here for a title bout with the hick heavyweight, as he is called.

You won't find Cut and Shoot on the map, but it's there, as tough a community as Texas ever has seen. Shoes aren't popular in Cut and Shoot, but coonskin caps are. It is nine miles east of Conroe, an oil town 40 miles north of Houston.

Grade-School Teacher

Harris is a grade school teacher in the area. He spent four years at Sam Houston State in Huntsville, but didn't acquire much polish. Cut and Shoot isn't conducive to culture, either.

They farm, fish, raise a few piney woods rooter hogs — and fight. The timber around town is so thick Harris tells you, "Sometimes it's noon before it gets to be daylight."

Harris, black-haired, sleepy-eyed, doesn't look as if he can fight. But when they go 10 rounds with him, they usually leave town with bumps all over them.

In two years and eight months he has stepped into the heavyweight rankings in a big way. He brought about what has to stand as the most colorful fight crowd of modern times. For the Pastrano fight, Roy trained in a rodeo arena at Conroe and the fans who trailed him to Houston normally wouldn't go to town once a year.

2-1 Underdog

Harris was a 2-1 underdog, but Conroe and Cut and Shoot people spurned the odds. "Don't want odds," they snorted. "Just want more damn fools who want to bet against Roy. Why, Roy'll whip the whole United States Marines."

Roy is a condition fighter. He may not be the fanciest-boxing heavyweight to come down the pike in some time, but he is a guy who will fight you all night and every time he hits you he hurts. He wrecked Pastrano. Against Baker, he took a hard right, went to the floor, then pulled himself up. Baker was startled that Harris was up. He soon forgot all about that, for Harris turned it into a war and the burly Pittsburgh heavyweight had to fight for his life.

Make Stand

Before the Pastrano fight, Harris' manager, Benny King, and Roy's father, Henry, who trains him, made their stand known on officials.

"Roy is his own official," they chorused.

It was no gag. Roy ducked away from Pastrano's jabs and pounded rights to the body all night, mixing them up with wicked uppercuts.

Neither is the school teaching a gag. Roy handles a typical rural school class at Cut and Shoot, which means teacher has to defend himself at all times. And oh, how those PTA meetings wind up in Cut and Shoot!

But Roy Harris takes care of everything.

Around here they say he'll take care of Floyd Patterson, too.

Five Questions Arise In N.L. Soap Opera

Yanks Can Sink Chisox This Week

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Will the Braves be able to hold the lead despite injuries? Can the Cardinals win at home? Will the Dodgers, loaded with walking wounded, be able to hold their own in the West? Can the Redlegs avoid another long slump? Will the Phillies hang on?

Even Helen Trent never had it as rough as the five clubs in on that soap opera the National League is staging as a pennant race these days. And after the St. Louis Cardinals were rapped 13-4 by the Chicago White Sox in Monday's Hall of Fame game, the pennant pursuers get back to business today with the Western teams at home to the East.

Yanks vs. Sox

In the AL—where the only real question is "If the Yankees are so great, why aren't they playing .700 ball?"—first-place New York gets another chance to wrap it up early, returning home with a 4½-game lead for a three-game set with the second-place White Sox.

Milwaukee's Braves, who left home July 1 with a half-game lead, slipped to third and three games behind only to get hot again and win nine of the last 13, are back home again for a 16-game stay. They open tonight with a one-game lead against Philadelphia, with the Phillies in fifth, 3½ games behind, after leading the league by a half game a week ago.

The Dodgers, hottest club in the race at the moment with a 10-2 record that has hoisted them from fifth, five games behind, to second, open the trip at St. Louis. The Cards, blowing a three-game lead with a 4-7 trip through the East, are third, 1½ games back, as they open a 21-game stand at home — where they're only 20-20 for the season.

Redlegs Fourth

Cincinnati, at home for a 13-game stay, is fourth, two games behind, as it opens against seventh-place Pittsburgh tonight. New York's sixth-place Giants, who tore the West apart with a 10-5 record on their last trip, are at Chicago for a day game with the last-place Cubs.

In other AL games, it's Kansas City at Boston, Cleveland at Washington and Detroit at Baltimore. All are night games.

Braves' Manager Fred Haney has made the best of a makeshift lineup to overcome injuries to Joe Adcock, Hank Aaron, Felix Mantilla and Billy Bruton.

Bandage Boys

Brooklyn's bandage boys are Duke Snider (brace on left knee), Elmer Valo (pulled groin muscle), Carl Furillo (stiff shoulder), Don Newcombe (sore finger) and John Roseboro (broken finger).

Haney named Bob Buhl (10-6) as his probable starting pitcher against the Phillies' Jack Sanford (12-3) or Curt Simmons (9-5).

Brooklyn's Johnny Podres (7-3) goes against the Cards' Sam Jones (8-3).

The Redlegs will try Johnny Klippstein (4-9) against Pittsburgh's Vern Law (6-4).

It's southpaw Johnny Antonelli (9-9) for the Giants against the Cubs' Dick Drott (8-8).

Larsen to Hurl

The Yankees, who have lost only eight games since June 13, go with Don Larsen (5-2) against the White Sox and Bob Keegan (6-3) who has won six in a row.

Boston, shut out by Chicago in the last two games of the western trip, is third, 12½ games back, going into the game with Kansas City. It's Frank Sullivan (8-6) for the Red Sox against Virgil Trucks (7-3). At Washington the Indians, fourth and 13½ games behind, send Stan Pitula (2-2) against the last place Nats and Chuck Stobbs (3-13), with two straight over Cleveland.

For Detroit, fifth and 15 games shy, it's Billy Hoeft (2-5) against Billy O'Dell (1-3) and the Orioles, 16 games back and in sixth place.

Abe's Praise

CHICAGO (AP) — Halfback Abe Woodson of the University of Illinois is all hepped up over the 1957 edition of the College All Star football team which meets the New York Giants at Soldier Field Aug. 9.

"I don't think they could have picked a better squad," said Woodson who last fall led Illinois to a stunning 20-13 upset over Michigan State.

"The line has speed and size," says Abe, "the backs have speed, elusiveness and power. And as for the quarterbacks — well that's obvious: They can pass and run and kick. What more can you ask in a team?"

UMP BLASTS BACK—Frank House ran up to John Rice and had only started to enter his beef when the umpire made it clear that the Detroit catcher was called out at first base.

Orange Bowl Will Cancel ACC Pact

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Any top-notch college team can be invited to play in the 1959 Orange Bowl football game and everyone seems happy about it—even the Atlantic Coast Conference, which was cut loose to make room.

The Orange Bowl Committee voted Monday not to renew its contract with the ACC. Atlantic Coast Conference teams have met Big Eight conference champions in Orange Bowl New Year's Day games since 1954 under agreements that expire with the 1958 clash.

Free Pick

The bowl will continue to book Big Eight championship teams, but will be free to pick the opposing eleven from any section of the nation.

Major radio and television networks, which have paid the bowl increasing sums for broadcast rights, had urged the committee to widen its field of choices. Negotiations currently are under way with NBC and CBS.

Joe H. Adams, president of the bowl committee, said the Big Eight had agreed to waive for 1959—the bowl's 25th anniversary—its rule that no Big Eight titlist can play in two successive bowl games. Under foreseeable conditions, that probably would bring the Big Eight's powerhouse, Oklahoma, to the Orange Bowl both in 1958 and 1959. The latter year, the committee could pick the Big Eight team's foe from the cream of college football regardless of section.

Adams Pleased

"We are happy about this," Adams said.

Van C. Kussrow headed a committee panel that studied means of improving the Orange Bowl game and recommended Monday's action by the full committee.

Courchesne Loses; Trip to South America Called Off

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Courchesne was as good as new today but his manager, taking no chances, decided that a projected trip to Venezuela was out for the time being.

Courchesne, a good journeyman lightweight, took a spasm between the eight and ninth rounds of his scheduled 10 with Bobby Bell Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena and scared the living daylights out of his seconds and the TV spectators who saw the bout in some sections of the country.

"Of course, the trip to South America is out," said Courchesne's manager, Pat Bartlett. "He was supposed to fight in Caracas. There's nothing wrong with him, but we just want to be careful."

Courchesne, who had a 50-8-2 record, was charged with a knockout at the hands of Bell when he failed to answer the bell for the ninth round. According to the New York State Athletic Commission rules, it goes in the books as an eighth-round kayo.

Bartlett was backed by Dr. Samuel Swetnick, the physician in attendance.

"Courchesne is perfectly all right," said Dr. Swetnick. "The heat got him. It must have been 110 degrees in the ring. In cases like this the important thing is to see that nothing happens to the brain. When we gave him some oxygen he responded. I'd call it a case of temporary paralysis."

Bell, a veteran of dozens of fights, said it was mighty warm in the ring, but that he wasn't bothered too much.

Meteor III Wins Yacht Race Honors

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—Meteor III, a 38-foot cutter owned by Hank Burkard of Detroit, won overall honors in the Chicago-to-Mackinac Island Yacht Race completed Monday night.

A Class D vessel, Meteor III made the 333-mile run over Lake Michigan in 50 hours, 37 minutes, 11 seconds. Her corrected time was 39 hours, 18 minutes, 52 seconds.

Class D boats took the next three places in the overall competition.

Dyna, winner of the Port Huron-to-Mackinac Island race last week, was fifth in the overall competition and winner of Class A. She is owned by Clayton Ewing of Green Bay, Wis.

The Class B championship is under protest. Corona, skippered by Fred Peterson of Chicago, was listed first, Whisper, owned by H. Baker, Jr., of Grand Rapids, Mich., was second. The crew of the Princess, which finished third, protested that Corona forced them to fall off and restart when the race opened at Chicago Saturday morning. Princess is owned by C. A. Hubert of Jackson Park, Ill.

Luxen, owned by R. R. Luxford of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., won Class C.

A Trial, But Who Is Defendant? . . .

ROUND AND ROUND—With apologies to Perry Como for using the song title, we can't help but take the aforementioned phrase as an apt description of the battle royale which took place at the Chamber of Commerce Bldg. last night in an attempt to clarify the situation which arose regarding the National Division of the Future League.

Six managers, six sponsors, six Jay Cee officials and this writer (at the request of both sides) were present and, when the final bell brought the fiery meeting to an end, the following points were made:

1. League leading Shrine Club had forfeited three games. 2. Two managers fired last week were reinstated. 3. A plea for harmony the rest of the year was made, with the JayCee notation that Points 1 and 2 were done in the interests of harmony.

THE ARGUMENT started early in the season with charges by five clubs that Shrine Club was pitching a 12-year-old boy, illegal under Future League rules. The boy had filled out a registration card at the start of the season saying he would be 12 on July 17.

Under League rules, which include the clause that if a boy has a birthday after July 15 his younger age will be considered his "baseball age" for the duration of the season, the boy was 11. But later it turned out the boy's birthday was July 11, making his "baseball age" 12.

THE WHOLE THING mushroomed so that some managers were demanding forfeits of the original games and that two others pulled their teams off the field weeks later in protest of an original decision by baseball program director Bob McCoy that the games would not be forfeited. These two managers were fired by the Jay Cees, the parent organization.

After three hours of wrangling, the three decisions were made. Shrine Club's manager and sponsor agreed to forfeit its first two games when an over-age boy was pitching—plus one other game for using a pitcher more than five innings.

THE JAYCEES, in the interest of harmony, reinstated the two managers — both of whom made a gross mistake in failure to field a team. And, of course, the three forfeitures dropped Shrine Club to third place.

Before the meeting last night, Shrine was 9-1, Hal Roberts 7-4, Lawtons 6-5, Zephyrs 4-6, Melvins 4-7 and ½ of C 2-9. The revised standings now show Hal Roberts and Lawtons 7-4, Shrine Club 6-4, Zephyrs 4-6, Melvins 5-6, K of C 3-8.

SO, IN THE final analysis, everyone now is "supposed" to be happy. Concessions were made, mostly by the parent organization, in the interests of harmony. It is up to everyone to toe the line in the future to prevent such flareups. For the entire conflagration basically centered around one boy—yet nearly wrecked a program for 500 boys.

A trial was held last night. In the literal sense, the Shrine Club manager and the organization of the junior baseball program were on trial—to be judged.

BUT TO THIS writer, it was the parents who really were on trial—for permitting the whole thing to balloon like it did over one incident. It is time that the adults concerned acted like adults—before the children are harmed.

For, as we noted at the meeting and will continue to believe, five parents who know nothing about baseball can do a program more harm than six managers, six officials and 50 umpires.

THANK YOU DEPT.—Officials of the Park Board tennis program wish to thank all who contributed to the success of the recent tag day which brought in $386 for purchase of equipment for those in the program who can't afford it.

The Park Board and Elks also wish to thank officials of the River Forest Tennis Club for the fine gesture on their part when a Dixon group of 75 attended the recent National Clay Court championships. The group was to be given a reduced admission rate but the officials told Dixon sponsors they were so pleased that 75 traveled all way to Chicago for the matches that they would (and did) admit all local tennis pupils free of charge.

MORE THANKS — The Dixon JayCees also add a thank you note to contributors to the junior baseball program tag day which netted approximately $740. The JayCees also offer special thanks to Bob Wentling who installed a drinking fountain at Washington Field and furnishes the water.

The Dixon Fazzis still are anchored in fifth place in the Northern Illinois Amateur Baseball League after Sunday games. Freeport has a 10-1 mark, followed by Sterling VFW (9-3), Genoa (7-4), Belvidere (8-5), Dixon (5-5), DeKalb (5-7), Hampshire 5-8), Twin City (2-10) and Maple Park (1-9). In Sunday action, Freeport beat DeKalb, 9-2; VFW clipped Twin City, 7-2; Hampshire nipped Maple Park, 5-2; and Belvidere upset Genoa, 9-6. The Fazzis were idle.

THE ILLINOIS Dept. of Conservation will start immediately accepting applications for deer hunting permits for the first open deer season in 57 years. Dates for the open season will be Oct. 1-15 inclusive for bow and arrow hunters and Nov. 1-3 inclusive for hunters with shotgun and slug.

Thirty-three counties have been declared open for the season, seven in this area—Lee, Jo Daviess, Stephenson, Winnebago, Carroll, Ogle and Whiteside. The Department has estimated 15,000 permits will be available for the shotgun season. The county minimum is 200, the maximum 800, depending on deer population.

WHEN THE NUMBER of applicants exceeds the county quota of hunters, a drawing will be held to select those receiving permits. Application for both gun and bow and arrow hunters should be made in writing to: Permit Office, Dept. of Conservation, State Office Bldg., Springfield.

Successful applicants will be sent a form by mail to be filled out and returned with a $5 permit fee. The Department will fill out the deer hunting permit, package it along with back tag and deer leg tag (all bearing the same number) and return it to the applicants along with a folder on deer regulations.

RESIDENT LANDOWNERS or tenants, who are entitled to one free deer permit for the land occupied, will be issued permits and tags upon receipt of formal request. It is also noted by the Department, and accentuated by Lee Co. Conservation officer Jim Liston, that each hunter also must possess a regular hunting license.

Moosehart Plans Summer Camp Near Mt. Morris

ROCHELLE — (Special) — A permanent summer camp for Moosehart children about three miles southwest of Mt. Morris is being planned, according to an announcement made recently by Walter Ketz, superintendent of Mooseheart. The 86 acre camp will be located on the Harold Ross farm.

The camp will eventually operate throughout the year as it adds permanent facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross, who are both active in Moose affairs and in local community affairs, contributed the 86 acre site in its entirety. They have owned it since 1937 and formerly made it available to many local organizations.

The Ross farm is well located for a summer camp. Pine creek runs through the center of it, and a good stand of pine, plenty of wildlife and geological formations and cliffs all add up to a place for the children of Mooseheart to enjoy themselves at vacation time.

Ketz also discussed plans for the development of the camp. In its final state, the camp will be designed to allow every child who lives at Mooseheart, from the fourth grade through high school, to enjoy at least two weeks of summer camp. Considering a ten week vacation period in the summer, this would require facilities for approximately 75 boys or girls every two week camp period. As the construction of the camp progresses, more permanent facilities will be added.

Ketz said the first structure will be a combination kitchen, dining hall and recreation hall. The buildings at the camp will be of a rustic style construction, of clapboard and creosote. Funds to build them are provided by Moose members and Mooseheart alumni from the United States and Canada.

This summer the Mooseheart campers will probably use tents and spend most of their time building the smaller permanent camping structures. Depending on finances, there will be sleeping cabins built to handle 12. Probably no more than eight or nine cabins will be needed to handle the children and their camp directors. The Rosses already have a cabin on the site themselves, which they expect to retain. They both expressed a desire to participate in camp affairs occasionally and to help get it firmly established.

A long underground cable has been laid from the Public Service Co. lines to the pump house in the center of the proposed campsite. There will be no telephone or electric poles on the camp, as it is desired to keep the camp as much like the real outdoors as possible. There is a well on the property now which is 539 feet deep and capable of providing 100 gallons of water per minute. The well is adequate for a camp of this size.

The cabins and recreation hall will be built by contractors and furnished with electricity, also by underground cable. Some of the other structures like the chapel, bridges over the creek and other outlaying buildings will be built by the children themselves.

Mooseheart at the present time has four Boy Scout troops plus a Senior Scout unit with four Eagle scouts in it and three Girl Scout troops. These groups will probably use the new camp site this summer as a wilderness camp.

A mirage is a species of dream, even though the viewer is awake.

Historic Hotel Sold for $250 In Forreston

FORRESTON — (Special) — "Central House" was sold to Harvey Hill, Adeline, for $250 at an auction held Saturday afternoon. The structure must be torn down within 90 days.

George Groenewold, Forreston, bid $3,000 on the lot but the bid was rejected by Mrs. William Nolting, Chicago, only daughter of the late F. J. Acker who owned and operated the historic structure from July 3, 1900 until his death March 9, 1957.

The hotel has three floors with 22 rooms and was a flourishing establishment in earlier years. It has a framework of heavy oak and pinned joints.

An 1876 edition of an Ogle County history was auctioned off at $38 to Morris Roe, Forreston funeral director and Ogle County coroner.

Forreston Girls Leave Sunday For FHA Camp

FORRESTON — (Special) — Judy Trei and JoElla Masterson left Sunday afternoon for the Future Homemakers of America Camp at Lake Bloomington. About 500 Illinois girls will attend the week long session.

Judy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trei, is the president elect of the Forreston High School F.H.A. Chapter. She will be a junior this fall.

JoElla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Masterson, is past president and is state projects chairman. She plans to enter Manchester College at North Manchester, Ind., this fall.

Amboy

Dr. and Mrs. Shapiro Return From Yellowstone

AMBOY — (Special) — Dr. and Mrs. David Shapiro have returned home from a vacation of two weeks spent at Yellowstone National Park and other places in the west. Their daughters, Sarah, Debbie and Peggy accompanied them on the trip while their small son, Edward, stayed with his grandmother, Mrs. Harry Hall in LaMoille.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. McNee have returned home from Methuen, Mass. While they were there they attended the golden wedding anniversary celebration of Dr. McNee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. McNee.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hill and sons, John and David, recently returned from a vacation trip in the eastern states. They were gone for two weeks, one week of which they spent on Rye Beach in New Hampshire.

A highlight of the trip was a visit to Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. James Parrent returned last week from a trip through the Black Hills, the Bad Lands, Yellowstone National Park, Estes Park and other places in the mountain area.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tait returned home last week from a two week vacation trip to the west coast. Among the places visited were Albuquerque, N.M.; Las Vegas, and Reno, Nev.; the Painted Desert in Arizona and the Salt Flats in Utah.

Accepts Position

Mrs. Clyde Veith of Amboy has accepted the position of office secretary at the Lee County Home Bureau office in Amboy and has assumed her duties there. She will be glad to answer any questions or give help at any time. This was announced recently when the Lee County Home Bureau executive board met at the Farm Bureau building in Amboy.

Home Bureau

Mrs. Warren Mynard welcomed two new members to the Lee County Home Bureau. They are Mrs. George Droege of the Viola Unit and Katherine Conlon of the China Unit. Lee County has received a state award for having maintained 90 per cent of its membership during the year.

The tri-ennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, of which the Home Bureau is a part, is being held in Ceylon. Mrs. E. D. McGuire of Makanda, state president of Illinois Home Bureau Federation, will attend this conference. She will be the featured speaker at the Lee County Home Bureau's annual meeting which will be held on Nov. 14.

Dates to remember in connection with home bureau lessons are August 22 when a major lesson training school on "Repair of Furniture" will be given; and August 29 when there will be three minor lessons given. Minor lessons will be "Conserving Eyesight," "Toppings," and "Uncooked Candies."

Both meetings will be held at the Farm Bureau building in Amboy.

Mt. Morris To Appear in Color Movie

MT. MORRIS — (Special) — During the week of July 14, Mt. Morris adults, youths and children have been starring in a recreation movie.

Dallas Jones Productions have chosen Mt. Morris and its citizens to star in a 30-minute color motion picture on town and country recreation. Photography has been in progress with Oz Zielke, as director, and Frank Pfeifer, as cameraman in charge of production.

The film, sponsored by the nonprofit Athletic Institute of Chicago, is designed to show towns and villages how they can offer their citizens the most recreational opportunity at the least cost per person.

Most of the actors and the majority of the locations will be in Mt. Morris and its surrounding vicinity. Sponsors of the film felt Mt. Morris is representative of what can be accomplished by a good recreation program, including both town and farm families.

Casting is still proceeding with Lew Behrens, Mt. Morris recreational director, in cooperation with Zielke, and Gene Baisley, unit manager.

Mt. Morris has a full time paid recreational director which is supported largely by a recreational tax and the community chest.

Behrens has been in Mt. Morris for more than ten years.

Observe Safety Week

'Farming Safety Is Good Sense'

Illinois farm families should plan to make a day-by-day check of leading causes of farm accidents for the remainder of National Farm Safety Week through July 27.

O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, suggests the following schedule, beginning Wednesday, to focus attention upon the major causes of farm accidents and the means of removing them.

Wednesday, July 24, falls: Plan your activities so that you won't need to hurry. Hurry causes accidents. Neatness eliminates the causes of many falls.

Thursday, July 25, highway traffic: Courtesy is one key to traffic safety. Remove trees and shrubs from farm driveway entrances. Use and obey proper signals on the highway. Provide lights on all equipment moved after dark.

Friday, July 26, farm machinery: Make sure all farm equipment is in safe operating condition. Keep all guards and safety devices in place. Always stop machines before unclogging, oiling or adjusting them. Keep children away from machinery.

Saturday, July 27, review day: Review local accident prevention achievements. Plan for a year-long campaign against hazards. Check on farm and home hazards that might have been overlooked during the week.

Suggested extra precautions include checking electric and heating systems for proper equipment and installation. Keep everything in place. Also check and repair livestock equipment. Keep children away from animals at all times.

Farming safety makes good sense.

Find Reason For Clover In Alfalfa

URBANA — (Special) — A University of Illinois agronomist has explained why many farmers find sweet clover in their alfalfa fields. W. O. Scott says many farmers think that the sweet clover results from contaminated alfalfa seed. But in very few cases will this happen, he emphasized.

The more likely reason for sweet clover growing in alfalfa fields is the "hard seed" of sweet clover that may stay in the soil for many years before it germinates. Scott says many farmers unjustly blame poor alfalfa seed when the sweet clover actually comes from sweet clover seed that matured on the field sometime in the past five to ten years.

Wool Evidence To Be Sent to Amboy Office

Inasmuch as the wool shearing season is now ended, the Lee County A.S.C. Office wishes to remind all Lee County Farmers who have sold wool between April 1, 1957, and to date to bring into the Lee County A.S.C. Office, Amboy, their sale evidence showing the name of the firm purchasing the wool, the date sold, the number of pounds sold, the price per pound, and the total amount received for the wool. This evidence must be signed personally by a member of the firm making the purchase.

This evidence should be submitted as soon as possible after the sale of the wool. It cannot be accepted after April 30, 1958. This will also apply to sheep shorn up to March 31, 1958.

When sales are made of unshorn lambs this should also be reported as soon as sales are made, furnishing sales evidence to the Lee County A.S.C. Officer, Amboy, Illinois.

Last year a number of farmers did not receive their incentive payments due to failure of submitting evidence by deadline date.

Tests Say Cool Hogs Gain Fast

Your hogs will have to be cool these hot summer months to make good gains and good use of feed.

G. R. Carlisle, University of Illinois animal science specialist, says that in one test, hogs kept at 70 degree made normal gains. They ate only about 350 pounds of feed for each 100 pounds of gain.

But when the temperature was raised to 100 degrees, these same hogs almost stopped gaining. And they needed almost four times as much feed—or about 1,400 pounds —to gain 100 pounds.

Here's how to keep your hogs comfortable and gaining weight in summer: (1) Provide about 10 to 12 square feet of shade per hog. (2) Put an easy-to-keep-clean wallow in the sun near the shade—not under the shade. A wallow 10 feet on each side will take care of 50 pigs. (3) Keep a fresh supply of water near the shade and feeders.

PRESENT $2,000 FOR 4-H WORK—4-H Club work for the city of Chicago got a financial boost recently when the Sears Roebuck Foundation presented a check for $2,000 to the University of Illinois in support of their program. Edward B. Peterson, left, general manager of the Chicago Retail Group, Sears Roebuck and Co., gives the check to Dr. W. G. Kammlade, associate director of the cooperative Extension Service at the U. of Illinois College of Agriculture. At right is Guy L. Noble, director of the National Committee Club Work, Chicago. The contribution will be used for establishment and support of 4-H club work within the city limits of Chicago.

Lee County Farm Adviser

Joe Reedy tells me there is still space available for commercial exhibits at the 4-H Show. Anyone wishing to exhibit commercially should contact Joe, John Schafer or Leonard Henkel not later than July 26. This committee is arranging the layout of the displays.

* * *

From now until the 4-H fair on July 30, 31 and August 1, last minute work will be done in preparation for the show. The wiring of the new home economics building will be one of the biggest jobs. There are dozens of smaller jobs to be done.

* * *

A lot of bigger jobs have been done at the 4-H Center, however, none that seemed to give as much satisfaction as the raising of the flag pole. Charles McCarter, Ralph Salzman, Marshall Fulton, Phil Schlesinger, Don Hunt, Joe Reedy, Reginald Rapp, and Wally Reynolds were all on hand to help with the raising.

Adjust Combine To Save Grain

If your wheat or oat crop is heavier than usual this year, you may leave from five to ten per cent of it in the field.

Wendell Bowers, extension farm machinery specialist at the Illinois College of Agriculture, says you can cut that loss if you're careful in adjusting and operating your combine.

Heavy straw may double your losses if you try to drive too fast or cut too low on the stalks. Drive slow enough not to stall the cylinder on your combine down below its rated speed. Then cut the grain just below the nodding heads.

Keep losses low by adjusting your combine according to the owner's manual. If the cylinder speed is too fast or the concave clearance is too small, the result will become cracked kernels.

On the other hand, you may lose a lot of grain by failing to separate the grain from the heads if your cylinder speed is too slow or the concave clearance is too great.

Adjust the air blast equally on both sides of the combine. Have it just strong enough to lift the chaff off the front of the screens, and drop it so that it clears the rear of the screen as it falls to the ground.

Dirty grain may result from having the screens opened too much. You may have a heavy loss of grain behind the combine if they are closed too much.

In weedy grain fields, pay particular attention to the screen and fan adjustment, and be careful not to go too fast.

For more information on how to reduce your grain harvest losses, write to the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, Urbana, for a free copy of "Harvesting with Combines."

Mastitis is an old-time serious disease of dairy cattle that still causes heavy losses to dairymen.

Healthy Chicks

URBANA — Growth stimulators and antibiotics have their place in the poultry industry, but healthy chicks can get along without them very well, according to a recent study at the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

Dr. E. F. Reber, who reported results of the study, said that the researchers wanted to learn the organ weights and the composition of organs and bones of healthy chicks at various ages. The chicks were not fed any growth stimulants, and yet they weighed an average of 1½ pounds at six weeks and three pounds at 10 weeks of age. These are considered "good" gains, according to Dr. Reber.

A plant uses about 1,000 pounds of water to produce one pound of food.

Grain Market Shows High Soybean and Corn Prices

URBANA — Erratic and higher soybean prices spotlighted the grain market for the week ending July 19, the University of Illinois grain marketing staff reports. Corn and wheat prices were moderately higher and oats weaker.

Both old and new soybean futures traded within a 10-cent range. Late Friday morning trading showed prices 6 to 7 cents above last week's close.

Cash soybean prices strengthend substantially but did not follow the gyrations of the futures market. Bids at country elevators were up 4 to 6 cents over last week.

Strength in old soybeans resulted as traders believed that available supplies for processing from now until harvest would be short of needs. Soybean oil and meal especially have strengthened.

Overestimated Crop

It now seems almost certain that last year's soybean crop was overestimated by several million bushels. The trade estimates that old crop soybean carryover on October 1 fill be only 5 to 10 million bushels. This is based on existing stocks along with past rate of processing and exports. Until recently this carryover was expected to be 20 to 30 million bushels.

Current soybean stocks at processing plants and elevators are low. Meal stocks are also low. Mills must depend on old soybeans longer than usual this year because of the late crop in southern producing areas.

CCC soybean stocks are also rapidly disappearing. The CCC take-over may not exceed 25 million bushels, since farmers have redeemed part of what they put under loan. The last official estimate was 32 million bushels. The trade believes that CCC has already sold or committed well over 15 million bushels of their stocks. Also, some beans may have been counted both in CCC stocks and in the July 1 farm stocks report.

So farmers hold a relatively large share of the soybeans needed for crushing during the next 60 to 75 days.

Strength in New Crop

New soybeans have shown as much or more strength than the old crop. Present new crop estimates place the crop at 420 to 430 million bushels. This is viewed as a relatively short crop, considering that the 1957 cotton crop will be small.

The corn market showed the most strength in cash corn at country elevators. Prices moved up 3 to 4 cents over last week and were high in relation to Chicago futures. Large stocks at Chicago and delivery of these stocks on the maturing July futures contract are depressing that market. CCC sales have declined to about 4 million bushels a week.

Wheat prices have recovered and are 2 to 3 cents higher than last week's close. Chicago prices have strengthened in relation to St. Louis because of small stocks at Chicago and lack of export demand through the gulf.

Oat prices have declined as a result of harvest selling and reports of better yields in northern oat-producing areas.

call for an
ALL-CROP Harvester
If your present machine has trouble handling a rank, lodged, weedy crop, you'll appreciate an ALL-CROP Harvester, built by Allis-Chalmers. Wide-flow feeding keeps tangled, matted material moving through the machine to maintain big capacity. A full line of attachments lets you meet tough harvesting conditions in all types of crops.
You can choose from the 6-foot, pull-type BIG-BIN Model 66 (shown above) or the 9 or 12-foot self-propelled Super 100. Each is an ALL-CROP Harvester, a performance leader in the harvest field.
ALL-CROP is an Allis-Chalmers trademark.

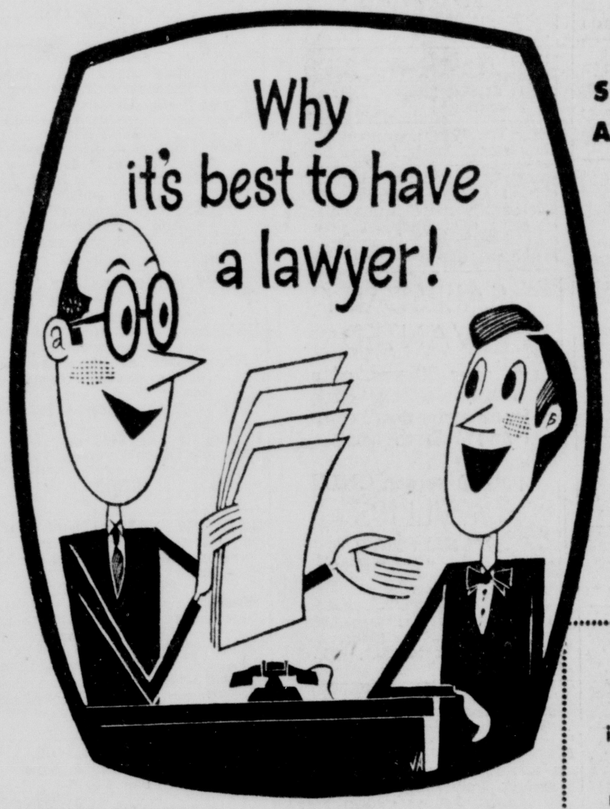
THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT BUYING A HOME



A lawyer will protect your interests in many ways. He'll see that all papers are in order . . . that the legal description of the property is accurate . . . that you get everything you're entitled to.
He will tell you how to protect yourself against errors, defects or omissions in the records—by insisting that the seller provide a Chicago Title Insurance Policy. This way, should anyone question your title as insured, Chicago Title and Trust Company will (1) retain local counsel to defend your title; (2) assume the cost of litigation; (3) promptly pay any loss.
Remember that you, the buyer, are entitled to this protection. And once you have the policy, you have no further cost to keep it in force.
These are your 3 WISE STEPS in buying real estate
1. See a realtor or builder. He will show you fine home values, save you time and money.
2. Talk to a lawyer. He'll protect your interests, see that all papers are in order.
3. Ask for a Chicago Title Insurance Policy. It is your right to insist the seller provide it. Issued locally.

Your Chicago Title Insurance Policy is backed by more experience and greater financial strength than any other protection you can have Placing Want Ads is simple. Just write out your offer and mail it to The Telegraph. If you'd like a hand with the wording, telephone 2-1111 and a friendly, helpful adwriter is at your service.

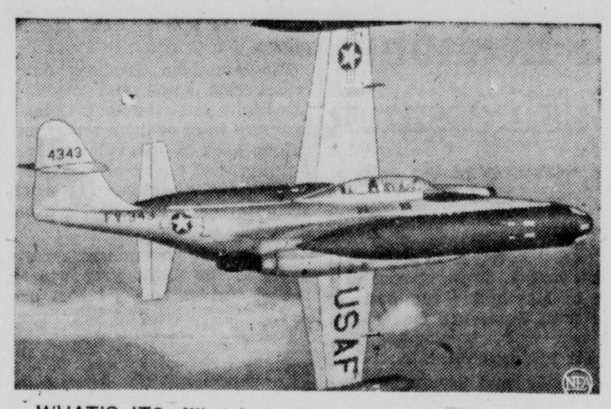
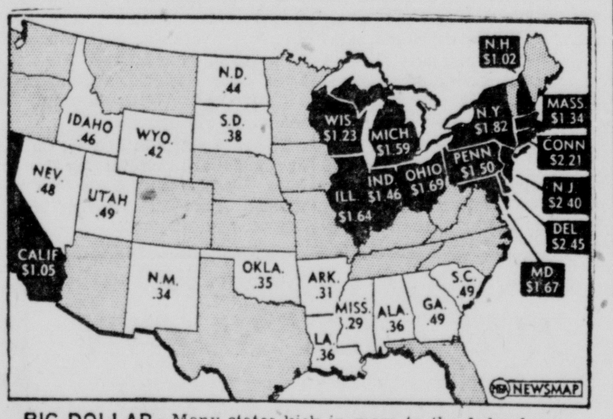
If a few extra bucks would make the going lots easier, get 'em the way so many do. Sell surplus furniture, idle appliances, outgrown clothing through the Classified. Just Dial 2-1111 the Extra-Money Number.



WHAT'S IT?—What looks like a pogo-stick version of the Northrop F-89 Scorpion is actually an unusual photo of two planes in flight over Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Oscoda, Mich. Photo was made by an Air Force cameraman when the lead plane banked to the left. The result looks like an F-89 with two sets of wings and horizontal stabilizers.



BIG DOLLAR—Many states kick in more to the federal government than they receive in federal aid programs, while some states contribute much less. The cost of the big "federal aid" dollar in 1956 saw large discrepancies in 28 states, according to Tax Foundation, Inc., nonprofit research organization. Newsmap shows the 14 states (black) which paid more than they received in aid and the 14 (white) which paid less than 50 cents for every dollar received. Other states and the amounts they paid ranged from 51 cents for Arizona and West Virginia to 96 cents for Oregon.

Great Romance of Century Between Women, Gadgets

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The great love affairs of the past were between men and women.

For example: Adam and Eve, Cleopatra and Mark Antony, Romeo and Juliet, Tristran and Isolde, Cyrano de Bergerac and Roxanne, and Tommy Manville and the phone book.

Such romances today are hopelessly old-fashioned and are usually found only among callow teenagers. The great romance of the 20th century isn't between man and woman. It's between woman and electrical gadgets.

Since the victory of the equal rights movement many a man has been faced with the problem of how to get a strong - minded woman to cleave to him for life. After all, a woman now has a husband figured out pretty well 10 minutes after leaving the altar.

Some husbands think the answer is to shower their wife with jewelry and furs. But there is a mistake. It only makes her more attractive to other men.

The thing to do, if you are a simple-minded husband (and if the noun fits, the adjective follows), is to get your wife interested in something in your home she can never quite understand. The most suitable thing is electricity. It has everything the wayward feminine mind find entrancing: power, subtlety, unpredictability.

The newlywed husband who is startled to find his bride yawning when he kisses her would do well to buy her an electric toaster.

This new toy will revive her interest in the home. When the husband finds that in time, however, she starts yawning as she puts the breakfast bread in the toaster, he should realize its simple mechanism bores her (just as he does). It is time for him to buy her a more advanced machine, such as an electric vacuum cleaner.

This will keep her content and humming for a full year. When boredom sets in again, the next move is to buy her a television set, then—in succession—an electric dish washer, an electric oven, an electric massage chair, a series of electric air-conditioners, an electric freezer and an electric clothes washer.

By now you've got your girl wired in forever. She doesn't have time to be bored. If one machine purrs merrily, another starts clanking fearfully, and she forgets her own woes as she gets out her tool kit to repair it.

You can bark at her or beat her, and she will never divorce you. She will reason thusly, "What, go away and let that bum bring in some other woman who will ruin all these beautiful badgets I've given my life to? Never!"

Hats off, husbands, to the memory of the saviour of the American home—Thomas A. Edison.

Strong Spots in Economy Calm Fearful Businessmen

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen have some pleasant news today to take their minds off all the heat that has been battering most of the nation.

Strong points in the economy keep popping up to calm the fearful and to reassure the wary who say they still can't be sure which way business is heading.

Let's leave the several admittedly soft spots to fry in the heat wave and look today at the reassuring factors.

The National Assn. of Purchasing Agents reports most of its members "hopeful" of upturn in the fall, although not as sure of that as they were in the cool days of May.

Steelmen report an unexpected but mild gain in new orders in July, with most of the ordering for the new auto models yet to come.

Machine tool makers also note a cheerful reversal in the trend of new orders. These started slipping in March and continued to drag until June, but that month saw new orders topping the May number by 20 per cent.

The bulls still outnumber the bears in the stock market, despite the wariness last week that kept the average from reaching last year's record high point.

Helping market sentiment have been many of the corporate earnings statements now pouring in at full tide. While lots of companies are falling victim to the rising trend of operating costs and some to declining sales, an impressive number are reporting gains in net profits after taxes over the year ago figures, and some are crowing over record sales and profits.

The cost of living which has been climbing montonously for months may level off next month, the experts think, if the harvests reverse the upward trend of food prices.

The American Bankers Assn. report that small and medium-size banks still have funds to lend. Only one third of them report any cutting back in loan volume. Only 2 per cent of the small banks report "quite a number" of small business concerns suffering from tight money.

The federal government reports it ended the fiscal year with a budget surplus of 1½ billion dollars.

Enter Jet Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Three Illinois pilots have entered the Ricks Memorial Trophy continental jet race for Air National Guard units. The race is Sunday.

Representing the Illinois Air Guard in the five-hour, three-stop air sprint will be Maj. Aloysius X. Hiltgen, of suburban Wheaton, Maj. John Nowacki, of suburban Cicero, and Capt. Shirley V. Drum, of Springfield.

The race starts in Fresno, Calif., and ends at Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, D. C., with refueling stops in Tucson, Ariz., Dallas, and Atlanta, Ga.
